SP may exit MVA over Uddhav Sena glorification of Babri demolition

Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, Deputy CMs Eknath Shinde and Ajit Pawar and others pay tributes to Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, in Mumbai | PTI

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) alliance in Maharashtra on Saturday refused to take part in the oath taking ceremony of the newly elected MLAs in protest against the alleged rigging of electronic voting machines (EVMs) in the recent assembly elections.

However, Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis and deputy CMs Eknath Shinde and Ajit Pawar and others took their oath as MLAs.

There was turbulence in the MVA, as the Samajwadi Party that has two MLAs in Maharashtra, threatened to walk out of the alliance. SP MLA Abu Azmi said the MVA was taking decisions without consulting them, including the boycott of the oath ceremony.

Another SP MLA Rais Sheikh said his party was not comfortable with the Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena lauding the demolition of the Babri Masjid. "We will talk with our leaders and take the call on the MVA," he said.

As for the EVM issue, Ajit Pawar said that MVA was doing injustice to their voters. He said when the MVA did well in the Lok Sabha elections, they had no problems with the EVM. "Now, the Opposition is blaming the EVM This is nothing but cheating," he said, adding they will have to take their oath on Sunday, else they will lose their assembly membership.

Uddhav Sena's MLA Aditya Thackeray said he suspected EVM rigging gave the Mahayuti the mandate. "We did not take oath in protest against the EVM rigging. We are raising our concern at the appropriate platform of the Election Commission of India. When the Markhadwadi village tried to conduct a mock poll to verify their voting through paper ballot, the local administration and the police disallowed it. Something is fishy," he alleged.

CM: Home for double-engine coordination

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AMID continuing wrangling for plum portfolios in the ruling alliance, Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Saturday justified his claim on the home ministry, saying it would enhance coordination with the Centre.

Both the BJP and the Shiv Sena are yet to thrash out a consensus on portfolio allocation, specifically home, which Deputy Chief Minister Eknath Shinde is keen on holding. Shinde's argument is that finance and home are portfolios worthy of a deputy chief minister. If NCP's Ajit Pawar can get finance with 41 MLAs, why can't the Sena with 57 MLAs have home, he reasoned.

Fadnavis said, "we feel the home ministry should remain with us for coordinating with the Centre on issues like Naxalism. Ajit Pawar and Eknath Shinde can also do coordination, but we strongly feel the home ministry should be with us."

He further added that as leader of the BJP in the state, he is always in contact with the party and its leadership in Delhi, one more reason why he should have the home ministry.

In the outgoing Mahayuti government, Fadnavis as deputy chief minister was in-charge of the home portfolio.

Of the 43 ministries, BJP wants to keep as many as 60% of them.

BIMS: Lokayukta takes up suo motu case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Will take stern action: CM

CM Siddaramaiah on Saturday said action will be taken against those responsible for maternal deaths at BIMS Hospital. He said a committee is probing the matter. Based on the report, stern action will be taken, he added.

CONSIDERING the maternal deaths in Ballari Institute of Medical Sciences (BIMS) Hospital as a serious matter, the Karnataka Lokayukta has taken up a suo motu case under the Karnataka Lokayukta Act.

Justice BS Patil directed the officials to register a case against the principal secretaries of Health and Family Welfare and Medical Education departments, the drugs controller, managing director of the Karnataka State Medical Supplies Corporation (KSMSCL) and officials of BIMS. Justice Patil also ordered the officials to register a case against the deputy commissioners and district health officers of all districts and directed them to furnish details of steps taken to avoid possible administration of the life-saving drugs in question in their districts.

He ordered the police wing of the Lokayukta to inspect BIMS and submit a report.

He sought reports from the principal secretary of the Health Department on the officials to be held responsible for the tragedy, details of compensation and on the functioning of the KSMSCL.

Yunus press secy cagey on Hasina issue in talks

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

BANGLADESH wants to "normalise ties with its big neighbour India," said Shafiqul Alam, press secretary to Bangladesh's Chief Adviser Prof Muhammad Yunus.

Speaking to this newspaper from Dhaka, Alam said they are keenly awaiting the visit of India's Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri to Dhaka on Dec 9. "This is the first high profile visit of the highest ranking officer from India after the August revolution and we look forward to meeting him. There are multiple issues of mutual interests between the two countries which will feature in the discussion. India is a big neighbour and a world player. We would like to continue with our good relations," said Alam.

He refused to comment on whether an extradition request of the ousted Awami League leader and former prime minister Sheikh Hasina will feature in the talks with Misri. In August, Hasina's 15-year-regime was ousted by a student movement. She fled her country and took refuge in India.

"We have an extradition treaty with India, and have pressed for her extradition, but we will have to wait till all the legal formalities are completed. She has been indicted by a tribunal here for murder. She is also accused of forced disappearances of thousands of people and rampant corruption. She is accused of mass extrajudicial killings during the August revolution," Alam alleged.

On attacks on minorities and their places of worship in Bangladesh, Alam acknowledged that there have been "isolated" incidents, including Friday night's torching of a Hindu temple outside Dhaka by unidentified people and said that the interim government regrets communal violence and is committed to protecting the rights of the minorities.

US REJECTS BJP'S ALLEGATIONS

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

IN its pushback to the BJP's charges, the US embassy in Delhi said it was disappointing that the ruling party would make accusations that 'deep state' elements and the US government were trying to destabilise India.

"The US government works with independent organisations on programming that supports professional development and capacity building training for journalists. This programming does not influence the editorial decisions or direction of these organisations," according to a spokesperson of the US embassy.

It was responding to the BJP's accusation on Thursday that US government and deep state elements were trying to destabilise the country. The ruling party alleged that the investigative journalism portal, Organised Crime and Corruption Reporting Project (OCCRP), was providing ammunition to the Congress to target India and the BJP.

"The US has long been a champion of media freedom around the world. A free and independent press is an essential component of any democracy, enabling informed and constructive debate and holding those in power accountable," the US embassy spokesperson added.

BJP spokesperson Sambit Patra had said that elements in the US deep state have colluded with a group of journalists and with India's Leader of Opposition, Rahul Gandhi, to put a spoke in the wheel of India's growth story using unsubstantiated allegations and malicious reports without a "shred of evidence."

"In fact, 50% of OCCRP's funding comes directly from the US State Department. OCCRP, therefore, functions as a media tool for carrying out deep state agendas," the party said in a series of posts on social media.

DUMPYARD TO DREAMSCAPE

The lush green butterfly park near Mangala Stadium, which was once a dumpyard

Two walkers transform vacant plot into butterfly park, promote biodiversity in Mangaluru

Raviraj and Sreekumar

DIVYA CUTINHO @Mangaluru

IN the heart of Mangaluru, a four-acre plot near Mangala Stadium was transformed into a lush green butterfly park by two enthusiastic morning walkers. While they aimed to promote urban biodiversity, they ended up creating a clean atmosphere for joggers and athletes in the city. In 2017, Raviraj Shetty and MD Sreekumar, who were regular morning joggers started working on clearing the space next to Karavali Utsav ground. "Initially, when Sreekumar and I would go for jogging inside the stadium, he used to pick plastic waste strewn on the walking track and I would join him. Our intention was to keep the space clean," said Raviraj.

A former employee and territory manager of Wipro Healthcare, Sreekumar hails from Kerala and has been living in Mangaluru for the past two decades. On the other hand, Raviraj works at a private travel company in Mangaluru. He is a national level long jump athlete and has won second place in 50+ categories in Masters Championships. Hailing from Shivapura in Hebri of Kundapura taluk in Udupi district, he now lives in the city. Being a plantsperson, Raviraj carries flower and fruit plants to plant on his vacant land, when he goes home during weekends.

Dumpyard to butterfly park

"There was always garbage on the basketball court near Mangala Stadium. We used to find multiple liquor bottles on the walking track, making it impossible for one to walk. Persistent on doing something, we cleaned the tracks and also spent around one and a half months clearing heaps of garbage dumped over the years near the basketball court. Once the space was cleared, we planted host plants which attracted a huge number of butterflies. What was once a dumpyard, turned into a butterfly park. We bought plants from nurseries and one of the forest departments at Padil. Today, the entire space next to Mangala Stadium is covered with over 20,000 plants," said Sreekumar. Saplings of hibiscus, jasmine, kepula, jamun, papaya, guava, mango, lemon and jackfruit are planted, alongside a variety of peanut butter plants, which are a favourite among birds. "Initially Mangala stadium supplied us with water, however, due to non-availability of water, we lost many plants," added Raviraj.

Currently, dry leaves of plants are used as manure and the Mangaluru City Corporation pumphouse provides water. "It is not easy to maintain these plants. Water is not sufficient yet we are trying to maintain these plants with the limited water available. We have installed sprinklers on our own, to somehow help the plants survive. Our primary objective is to conserve urban biodiversity," he said, adding that they spend their mornings here, which has become a pleasant spot to relax.

Sudarshan, a sports coach from the city appreciated the work Raviraj and Sreekumar are doing. "The duo has managed to turn the vacant land into a lush green spot in the last 7 years. Their efforts of clearing waste and planting saplings has provided a better ambience for walkers and athletes who work out in the stadium," he said.

DPR on ₹1,200-cr expressway to connect BSK with NICE Road soon

MOHAMMAD YACOOB
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is preparing a detailed project report (DPR) on the proposed expressway to connect Banashankari with NICE Road.

The 10-km stretch will ease traffic towards Kanakapura, hometown of Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. The project is said to cost Rs 1,200 crore.

In a letter to chief commissioner of BBMP Tushar Girinath, Shivakumar said, "Kanakapura road is one of the major roads connecting Bengaluru city. Traffic on this road has increased, causing hardships to commuters. As Metro rail passes through this road, it is difficult to construct a grade separator. So, it is necessary to make an alternative arrangement. Pressure on Kanakapura road can be eased by constructing a flyover on the pipeline road of Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), which runs parallel to this stretch. I have directed the chief engineer (BBMP Planning Centre) to take immediate action in this regard and prepare a feasibility report and a detailed project report."

A senior BBMP engineer said tenders will be called for preparation of DPR on the proposed flyover on the direction of the DyCM. "Bengaluru Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) built a double-decker flyover at Ragigudda. However, traffic snarl continues as there is no end-to-end connection. To ease traffic on this stretch, the expressway has been proposed," the engineer said.

> BMRCL built a double-decker flyover at Ragigudda. However, traffic snarl continues as there is no end-to-end connection. To ease traffic on this stretch, the expressway has been proposed
> Senior BBMP engineer

Slamming the decision, civic activist Kathyayini Chamaraj, who has launched an online campaign against Tunnel Road and Skydeck projects involving over Rs 10,000 crore, said she hinted about the expressway sometime ago and it has become official now.

"These decisions have been taken without consulting Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA), the apex authority responsible for preparing the Comprehensive Mobility Plan (CMP) for the city. The government should prioritise projects such as increasing the fleet of Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation and last mile connectivity," Kathyayini said.

Footpath encroachment in three zones cleared

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike conducted a pedestrian encroachment clearance operation on Saturday at three different zones in the city. The drive was conducted following directions from Zonal Commissioners and Joint Commissioners after they inspected footpaths in their respective zones. It was observed that footpath encroachments at various places were creating problems for pedestrians. "The Palike is conducting an operation to clear footpaths. We have advised shops, stalls and street vendors to stop encroaching and carrying out their businesses. Strict warnings have been issued against setting up shops on footpaths," said a Palike engineer.

Encroachments were cleared at 3rd Cross Road of Jayanagar 1st Block in South Zone, 16th Cross Road of Lakkasandra ward and 6th Cross Road of Nagarabhavi 2nd Phase in Rajarajeshwari Nagar zone.

Besides, encroachments and unauthorised overhead cables were cleared on Old Airport Road Marathahalli bridge main road in Mahadevapura zone. Residents complained that the cables are not only hampering the beauty of the city, but were also causing harm to the public.

Metro achieves record ridership of 9.2 lakh on December 6

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

NAMMA Metro achieved a new milestone on Friday, recording its highest-ever ridership of 9,20,562. From December 4 to 6, the total ridership has remained more than 9 lakh.

The highest patronage came from the Purple Line with 4,39,616, followed by 3,12,248 from the Green Line.

The surge in ridership was attributed to a combination of factors, including a major music event at the Bangalore International Exhibition Centre (BIEC) grounds at Madavara and the recent extension of the Green Line. The event drew a total of 37,312 footfalls, with 22,793 boarding from the three stations along the Green Line extension.

To accommodate the increased demand, BMRCL extended Metro operations until midnight, ensuring that concert goers and weekend commuters travel home easily. This extension played a key role in reaching the new ridership record. In a post on X on Saturday, Namma Metro officials shared--"Record-breaking day for BMRCL on Dec 6, with 9,20,562 boardings! Line 1 saw 4.39 lakh riders, Line 2 had 3.12 lakh, and the KGWA interchange recorded 1.67 lakh. Thank you, Bengaluru, for making this milestone possible."

NAGALOKA SHILPAVANA

A treasure trove! This park celebrates Ambedkar's philosophy

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE Dr BR Ambedkar's life and contributions are widely known, only few know about Nagaloka Shilpavana, a five-acre theme park hidden within the Jnana Bharathi campus. Designed as a 'classroom without wall,' Nagaloka Shilpavana is a treasure trove of history, featuring 21 statues of influential figures who shaped Ambedkar's philosophy. Built as a space for students to immerse themselves in the revolutionary ideas that shaped modern India, the theme park's existence remains unknown to many.

The institution's management laments that this invaluable resource, designed to inspire and educate across disciplines, often goes unnoticed by those it was meant to empower. The park celebrates figures like emperor Ashoka, whose transformation from a messenger of peace left an indelible mark on Ambedkar. Ashoka's embrace of Buddhism and his focus on governance rooted in justice and compassion deeply resonated with Ambedkar, who later adopted Buddhism as a path of liberation for Dalits.

Basavanna, the 12th century social reformer, is another towering presence in the park. Known for rejecting caste hierarchies and advocating equality through the concept of 'Kayaka' (work as worship), Basavanna's teaching inspired Ambedkar's fight for a society where dignity is universal and caste barriers are dismantled.

Mystic poet Kabir whose verses condemned discrimination and promoted harmony, also has a presence here. Kabir's call for unity across caste and religious lines echoed in Ambedkar's efforts to bring people together under the shared value of equality.

The park also features statues of reformers like Sahu Maharaj, who promoted education for marginalised communities and extended scholarships to uplift them. His work provided a template for Ambedkar's belief in education as the foundation for empowerment. Similarly, Basalingappa's contribution to social justice strengthened Ambedkar's resolve to demand equality through legal and institutional reforms. Adding to this are sculptures inspired by the Ajanta and Ellora caves, symbolising India's Buddhist heritage. The entrance marked by the Sahu Maharaj and Gaekwad arches, is symbolic of progress and reform. These figures stood as allies to Ambedkar, providing critical support in his campaigns against caste discrimination. "Nagaloka Shilpavana was envisioned not just as a park but as a space for students and researchers to engage with the past in the present," said professor CB Honnu Siddartha, director of Dr BR Ambedkar Study and Research Centre.

Professor Siddartha mentioned that, Nagaloka Shilpavana offers more than history—it provides a deeper understanding of the icons who inspired Ambedkar and whose legacy continues to guide the fight for justice, he highlighted.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to combat the rising drug menace, the Karnataka police department has launched "Drug-Free Karnataka" mobile app to enable citizens to confidentially report drug-related activities.

The app aims at fostering a collaborative approach to curb the menace by leveraging public participation.

A senior officer from CID told TNSE that the Police Computer Wing (PCW) of the department developed the app, which was launched recently. Through the app, information on drug trafficking, cultivation of opium poppy, cannabis and other plants from which drugs are extracted, distribution networks, synthetic drug-manufacturing labs, transportation system, and individuals involved in selling or consuming drugs can be sent. Information can be sent in Kannada or English and the app is available on the Play Store, with thousands of downloads so far, the officer said.

She said the app automatically forwards such information to the police based on the location shared. The police will verify it and take action.

The app also provides information and details related to the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act, 1985, and penalties for drug-related offences. App users can access information on the adverse effects of drug abuse and precautionary measures to prevent it. The app has Do's and Don'ts advisory to students.

She said the app ensures confidentiality and encourages people to actively participate in the fight against drug abuse without the fear of exposure. By bridging the gap between the law enforcement agency and citizens, the app aims to dismantle drug networks, reduce addiction rates, and foster a safe community.

NOW, WOMEN COPS IN MUFTI TO CHECK EVE-TEASING, STALKING

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to enhance the safety of women, Bengaluru City Police's Rani Chennamma Pade, a special unit of women police personnel, has been deployed in plain clothes (mufti) at key locations such as bus stands, shops, malls, schools, pubs, and other public places to prevent crimes against women, particularly eve-teasing and stalking.

The Rani Chennamma Pade, initially stationed in specific divisions, is now present in all divisions of the city. The main aim of the squad is to educate and train women in basic self-defense techniques while also raising awareness about women's and children's rights and related laws. The squad consists of constables and assistant sub-inspectors.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (DCP-Southeast) Sarah Fatima told The New Sunday Express that the southeast division has 17 women officers in the squad, and there are plans to increase it. Apart from officers in mufti, additional police officers will be stationed nearby to take swift action, if necessary. They also travel with the public to understand the problems faced by women, she said.

She further added that the police interact with women to boost their confidence and encourage them to approach the police to report any crime against them. The squad is focusing on reaching out to girls' colleges and paying guest accommodations to raise awareness about safety measures, laws designed to protect women, n and other initiatives by the city-police, like 'Namma 112'. They educate boys too.

Another senior officer said that while previously male officers were deployed in mufti, the presence of female officers in mufti now boosts the confidence of women.

Auto driver seeks excess fare, harasses 20-year-old student

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 20-year-old college student interning at a private firm faced harassment and racial slurs by an auto driver who demanded an additional Rs 200 over the app's allotted fare.

The incident occurred when the victim was travelling from Bellandur to his PG accommodation in Mallasandra on Saturday night at 10.40 pm. For the 24-km journey, the app showed a fare of Rs 380.

However, upon reaching the destination, the driver demanded Rs 500. When the student refused, the driver is alleged to have barged inside the PG, threatening to attack him. The situation escalated when the driver called two of his drunk associates. The trio threatened to attack him even near his office. The student paid the driver Rs 500.

The student later took to X to share his traumatic experience, tagging the auto aggregator and the city police. He also posted the video of the incident and attached screenshots of the actual auto fare. In his post, he stated that the actual fare according to the app was Rs 380 but when threatened, he ended up paying Rs 500, Rs 400 in cash and Rs 100 through UPI.

Responding to the post, the auto aggregator expressed their apology and said, "Hi. We are sorry about what happened. Situations like this are unacceptable. Your safety and comfort is paramount to us, and we assure that incidents like this won't happen again. If you need help, DM us."

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has said that the government is seriously considering to open multispeciality hospitals in all the districts to provide better healthcare to people in rural areas. He was speaking after laying the foundation stone for a 100-bed hospital in Yalandur, Mysuru, on Saturday

Will act after expert panel submits report on BIMS tragedy: Health Min

KARNATAKA Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao and a Lokayukta team visited Ballari Institute of Medical Sciences (BIMS) Hospital here in view of five maternal deaths reported since November 9.

During his visit, the minister said that the State Government has taken the tragedy at the BIMS Hospital seriously and it would be discussed in the winter session in Belagavi to start from Monday. A decision would be taken after a thorough discussion, he added.

The Lokayukta team visited the pharmaceutical unit at the district hospital and VIMS and gathered information from the staff there.

Gundu Rao said that a committee of experts would be formed to investigate the reasons for maternal deaths. Action would be taken based on the committee's report.

Prosecution order

The minister revealed that the Karnataka State Drugs Logistics and Warehousing Society had flagged IV Ringer Lactate solution unfit for use, although the Central Drugs Laboratory (CDL) issued a positive report. In response, a letter has been sent to the Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) for clarification. A prosecution order will be issued against West Bengal Pharmaceuticals.

On the death of infants across the state, the minister said that he would hold a discussion with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah soon. Steps would be taken to give compensation to the victims' families. A team of experts would be sent to study the reasons for the death of infants.

"After we received information on the unnatural death of an infant in the district, a team led by the vice-chancellor of Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences was formed to investigate the reasons for it and submit a report. We are committed to ensuring that such incidents do not happen again in the state," he elaborated.

Former BJP minister B Sriramulu staged a protest on the Ballari Institute of Medical Sciences premises on Saturday seeking action against those responsible for the tragedy.

After the health minister assured him that action would be taken, Sriramulu ended his protest.

Meanwhile, members of the BJP Mahila Morcha also visited Ballari Institute of Medical Sciences Hospital on Saturday.

Once we get the report, action will be taken against the guilty. We have already taken some action, further action will follow based on the report

HDK seeks probe by HC judges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UNION Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel HD Kumaraswamy on Saturday demanded a thorough investigation by judges of the High Court into a series of deaths of women in government hospitals in Karnataka. "In the progressive state of Karnataka, 327 women have died in hospitals this year. This shocking information has been provided by Health Minister Dinesh Gundurao himself... has left me appalled," Kumaraswamy said. The former Chief Minister questioned if the State Government had not noticed the issue of substandard medicine supply and was Dinesh Gundurao unaware of it.

He said that the government health system in the state is in complete disarray. "Hospitals have become death traps. Women are dying owing to substandard glucose and medicines. It is disturbing to hear that nine women fell critically ill within just two hours of receiving a Ringer's Lactate IV infusion at Ballari hospital. So, who supplied this infusion? Which company was responsible for it?" he questioned.

Kumaraswamy said that while substandard glucose and medicines have been supplied for days, what has the government been doing and why did the Health Minister ignore such a sensitive issue? He said that Dinesh Gundurao's statement that he will resign if he is at fault, is unacceptable. "Taking responsibility does not mean escaping from it. What is needed is proper treatment for the ailing health department. Atonement is more important than evading responsibility. It is the minister's duty to fix the department," he said.

Winter session: Govt should make it count, not annual jamboree

THE entire state machinery will be in the border city of Belagavi for a nine-day winter session of the state legislature starting Monday. As the ruling and opposition parties gear up for a face-off, expectations are high among people in the region. At the same time, apprehension looms large as politics often takes precedence over development.

The session being held within weeks after the fiercely fought bypolls that witnessed vitriolic campaigning from all sides, is likely to witness heated debates over several issues. Issues that are likely to come up for discussions include the Waqf Board's notices to farmers and religious institutions; crop loss due to heavy rains; deaths of women at Ballari Institute of Medical Sciences (BIMS); FIR against a Vokkaliga community seer over his remarks on voting rights to Muslims; alleged corruption in Excise Department, pending irrigation projects and the Enforcement Directorate's (ED) letter to the Lokayukta indicating wrongdoings in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) sites allotment.

The MUDA case, in which Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his family members are among the accused, is expected to generate considerable heat. The CM and his ministers have questioned the central agency's intent in writing to Lokayukta and accused it of trying to influence the ongoing probe.

Congress' confidence is bolstered by its 3:0 win in the bypolls and Siddaramaiah would be heading to Belagavi after a massive show of strength in Hassan. The rally in the Vokkaliga heartland seems to have sent a strong message to senior leaders in Congress that Siddaramaiah, despite facing serious charges in the MUDA case, remains the top mass leader in the party.

In a way, this session will test the opposition's ability to put up a united front and scrutinize the government's functioning. As things stand now, the BJP, which is a principal opposition party, is in total disarray. Lack of unity among its senior leaders came to the fore on several issues. A faction headed by MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal had launched a protest over the Waqf Board land issue, weeks before the party under the leadership of state president BY Vijayendra started its campaign on the same issue. Many in the party believe differences among the leaders resulted in a setback in the recent bypolls. The ball is now in the court of the central leadership.

The party is unlikely to make a decisive move to completely resolve the issue but will try to patch up the differences among the warring factions. Given this scenario, the BJP would be more keen to avoid any showdown between its members on the floor of the House, rather than taking on the government.

Although, individually, the BJP legislators may be fully committed to the issues they take up, the lack of effective coordination in the opposition benches weakens their cause. This is the stage when internal issues actually impact the party's ability to function as a responsible and effective opposition, holding the government accountable for its actions and drawing its attention to issues that affect people.

On its part, the government must make the Belagavi session count. The very purpose of holding the session in the border city is to take the administration closer to the people of North Karnataka.

As Assembly Speaker UT Khader puts it, while the Belagavi session is very important to discuss issues of the entire state, they are planning to allocate two to three days exclusively to discuss issues pertaining to the North Karnataka region.

The legislators must maintain the respect and sanctity of the session, even as some express dismay over how the proceedings are conducted. As one senior Congress MLA explains, both the ruling and opposition legislators often indulge in sloganeering and bills are passed in pandemonium without detailed discussion.

Former Vice-Chancellor of Raichur University Prof Harish Ramaswamy says that the idea of bringing Suvarna Soudha to North Karnataka was an excellent move, but it has since merely become a seasonal trip to Belagavi.

To take the decision-making process closer to people, some important departments/offices have to be shifted to North Karnataka and ministers should frequently hold department meetings apart from Cabinet meetings in Suvarna Vidhana Soudha. The government spends around Rs 5 crore annually on the maintenance of the magnificent structure.

People expect the Winter session to focus on tangible outcomes for the development of the region and not just become an annual jamboree costing several crores.

BJP core committee puts end to leadership issue, BYV to continue

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state BJP core committee that met on Saturday held deliberations to quell the internal bickering in the party ahead of the local body elections expected to be held in 2025.It sent out a firm message that there will be no change in the leadership in the state unit of the party, and state party president BY Vijayendra will lead the party in the polls.

The meeting comes in the backdrop of senior party MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal taking out a separate rally against the alleged grabbing of land belonging to farmers and religious institutions by the Karnataka Waqf Board. Yatnal is also a vocal critic of Vijayendra and former chief minister BS Yediyurappa.

The core committee on Saturday advised all party leaders to work alongside those who are committed to the party's ideology and work to strengthen it in the state, informed sources told The New Sunday Express, adding that taking action against Yatnal has been left to the party high command.

"We want to face the upcoming panchayat polls with great vigour. Power to change the party leadership lies with the grassroots workers or national leaders... not with any intermediatory persons," the party's state in-charge, Radha Mohan Das Agarwal, told the media after the meeting.

Agarwal clarified that they will take a further decision after studying Yatnal's reply to the show-cause notice issued by the party's disciplinary committee recently. "He (Yatnal) is yet to reply. Action, if needed, will be based on his reply. There is no Yatnal versus Vijayendra or Yatnal versus BJP in Karnataka," he clarified. "We have 71 lakh workers in Karnataka. Each person has his or her own personality. Time will tell whether their personality is right or wrong," he added.

State BJP president BY Vijayendra said that it has been decided in the core committee meeting to curb the "unruly" behaviour of some leaders and to take this matter seriously. MLAs ST Somashekhar and Shivaram Hebbar, who won under the BJP symbol, have been involved in anti-party activities for the past several months, and they have officially identified themselves with the Congress, he added. When asked if Yatnal's expulsion was sought, he said, "I cannot speak openly about it... the matter is in the court of the elders."

The core committee members said that they will request the suspension and disqualification of Somashekhar and Hebbar.

It was also decided that everything in the party be brought to the attention of the higher-ups and a decision be taken immediately.

Fact-finding committee to study bypoll loss

BY Vijayendra said that a fact-finding team under the leadership of former CM DV Sadananda Gowda and state vice-president and former minister N Mahesh will find out why the reasons behind BJP's recent bypoll loss in Shiggaon and Sandur constituencies

Undeterred Nikhil likely to lead JDS in future elections in Karnataka

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

JDS Youth Wing president Nikhil Kumaraswamy, who recently lost the Channapatna Assembly bypoll, is likely to lead the regional party in future elections in Karnataka starting from the elections to zilla and taluk panchayat likely to be held in 2025.

Apart from last month's bypoll, Nikhil, son of Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy and grandson of former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda, lost his two previous electoral battles too—the 2019 Lok Sabha elections from Mandya as a JDS-Congress alliance candidate and the 2023 Assembly polls from Ramanagara, a seat that his mother, Anitha Kumaraswamy, had sacrificed for him. Nikhil's third straight defeat came in Channapatna, a seat vacated by his father Kumaraswamy after the latter was elected to the Lok Sabha from Mandya this year.

At present, Kumaraswamy is the state JDS president.

Now with Kumaraswamy a Union Minister, the baton is likely to be passed on to Nikhil, informed sources told The New Sunday Express.

A win in Channapatna would have given a much-needed boost to Nikhil. But undeterred by the back-to-back defeats, the young JDS leader is now moving on to organise the party, said JDS insiders.

Nikhil recently met several BJP central leaders, including organising secretary BL Santhosh and the party's state in-charge, Radha Mohan Das Agrawal, in New Delhi. On Monday, Nikhil is scheduled to meet Union Home Minister Amit Shah, JDS sources told TNSE.

"During my visit to Delhi, I had the privilege of meeting Santhoshji and receiving his blessings. He discussed key aspects of the Channapatna by-election, sought information, and provided me with significant guidance on my political journey as well as strengthening the NDA alliance in Karnataka," Nikhil had told the media after his meeting with Santhosh in Delhi.

"I am only saying this, Nikhil will take over the responsibility of the party in the future. Becoming an MLA is not the only thing to achieve. He is young and has the responsibility of organising the party in the state, the experience to his back, and also a family background; we will give him more responsibility," Deve Gowda told a private TV channel in New Delhi on Saturday.

We have accepted the report (Justice D'Cunha's) and whatever action can be taken legally, will be taken

DK Shivakumar, Deputy Chief Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Saturday said that those involved in corruption in management of the Covid-19 pandemic will not be spared.

Speaking to the media after the cabinet sub-committee meeting, Shivakumar, who is also the state Congress president, said that the State Government has accepted Justice Michael D'Cunha's Committee report on Covid-19 irregularities and the government is constituting a committee consisting of serving and retired officials to look at the report. "To ensure that no one unnecessarily faces trouble, a committee is being formed to look into the report. The committee is to just guide us in taking follow-up action," he said.

Shivakumar said that a departmental inquiry will also be conducted against the officials and as per the recommendations of Justice D'Cunha's report and criminal proceedings will also be initiated. "It can be any number of cases. We have accepted the report and whatever action can be taken legally, it will be taken," he said responding to a question if FIR will be registered against those named in the report.

The DyCM said they will again take stock of the investigation in Belagavi. He said the cabinet sub-committee will not be involved with the procedures and a free hand has been given to officials to investigate the Covid-19 irregularities.

Explaining the alleged irregularities, the DyCM said that as many as 84 lakh RTPCR tests have been done in Bengaluru City Corporation limits at Rs 502 crore, and Rs 400 crore has already been released. "This means that two people from each household were subject to RTPCR tests. In Kidwai Hospital alone, 24 lakh tests were done and Rs 146 crore was billed. There was no approval from ICMR. We need to verify this," the DyCM said. There are just two examples now and they will not spare the culprits, Shivakumar added.

"We have not even taken his name, but he is talking as if he is a culprit. The recommendations suggest filing criminal charges under Section 71 and Section 11 of Public Service Act," he said responding to a question about the former Health Minister's allegation that it was a political witch hunt.

The DyCM said they have rejected the report that stated that there was no human error in the tragic death of 36 people in Chamarajanagar Hospital during the pandemic. "We will investigate it again. CM Siddaramaiah and I have witnessed the situation there. We also visited the homes of 36 victims. But the then minister had said that only 3 people had died due to oxygen shortage," he said.

'CM's WORD WAS FINAL'

DK Shivakumar said no one in the party should talk about the power-sharing agreement. "There is no pact. The CM has been given some responsibilities and I am given certain responsibilities. We are doing our job. There is no need for anyone to talk about the pact. I have said that the CM's word was final," he said responding to a question on Minister KH Muniyappa's statement that there was a power-sharing agreement.

NEW LOW-PRESSURE SYSTEM FORMS OVER BAY, TO APPROACH TN

Expected to move west-north-westwards, become more pronounced over next 24 hours

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

A new low-pressure system has developed over the Bay of Bengal on Saturday and is heading towards Tamil Nadu. According to India Meteorological Department (IMD), the system is expected to move west-northwestwards and become more pronounced over the next 24 hours.

The weather system is likely to approach the Tamil Nadu coast by December 11 (Wednesday), triggering heavy rainfall and potential thunderstorms. The development of the system resembles that of Cyclone Fengal, which had recently wreaked havoc in Tamil Nadu, leading to widespread flooding and damage across several districts.

Forecasts for the coming days indicate light to moderate rainfall over Tamil Nadu and Puducherry, intensifying into heavy to very heavy downpours in several coastal and interior districts, starting December 10. The same districts battered by Cyclone Fengal are likely to come under pressure yet again. Heavy rain warning was issued on December 11 for Kancheepuram, Chengalpattu, Viluppuram, Cuddalore, Mayiladuthurai, Nagapattinam, Tiruvarur, Thanjavur, Pudukkottai, Ariyalur and Perambalur districts of Tamil Nadu, and Puducherry and Karaikal areas.

On December 12, heavy to very heavy rain is likely over Chengalpattu, Villupuram and Cuddalore districts of Tamil Nadu and Puducherry, while heavy rain has been forecasted for Kancheepuram, Kallakurichi, Mayiladuthurai, Nagapattinam, Tiruvarur, Thanjavur, Pudukkottai, Ariyalur and Perambalur districts and Karaikal area.

Ex-MUDA commissioner moves HC over ED raid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER Commissioner of Mysuru Urban Development Authority Dr D B Natesha moved the Karnataka High Court questioning the legality of the search and seizure conducted as a part of the raid on his house by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) concerning the alleged irregularities in allotment of sites by the MUDA.

Hearing the petition filed by Natesha contending that he has no connection whatsoever with any alleged proceeds of crimes that the ED is trying to unearth, Justice Hemant Chandangoudar issued notice to the ED and directed it to place on record material demonstrating compliance with the requirements under Sections 17 and 50 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002, before adjourning hearing to December 9.

Senior counsel Sandesh J Chouta, representing Natesha, submitted that the ED, without taking recourse to Section 50 of the PMLA, 2002, conducted a raid on the petitioner's house on October 28 and 29, 2024 in the city and recorded his statement under oath.

The petitioner contended that the prerequisite of Section 17(1)(f) of the PMLA, that a person can only be subjected to recording of a statement under the section only when he or she is found in possession or control of any record or property in respect of all matters relevant for investigation. Without this, conducting a raid violates fundamental rights. The petitioner claimed that the ED did not discover any incriminating material during the raid and subsequently summoned him under Section 50 of the PMLA, contrary to the law.

He also asserted that, prior to conducting the raid, the ED was supposed to record the reasons in writing that he had reasons to believe that he had committed an act of money laundering. However, the raid was conducted without recording such reasons, thereby vitiating the entire proceedings.

It was also claimed by the petitioner that there is no iota of evidence or material to connect him with any alleged offence in the present case or any activity related to PMLA. After an illegal search operation, the ED issued a Panchanama dated October 29 which clearly stated that during the two days of search operations, the ED was unable to effect recovery of one iPhone 16 Pro which belonged to him and a master copy of the data extracted from his phone from his premises.

Will recover encroached forest lands: Khandre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOREST, environment and ecology department minister Eshwar B Khandre on Saturday said an appeal will be made to the courts to cancel the lease period of the companies and agencies that have occupied forest areas on long term lease periods and have not paid the lease amount.

Speaking at the 60 years celebration of 'MyForest' and release of the journal, in the city, he said there are multiple and stringent laws for forest and land protection, yet there is encroachment and cases where long term lease dues are pending and long pending appeals in courts are standing.

The nature of the land cannot be changed and one of the prime clause in all lease agreements is that the land use cannot be altered during the lease period. The government is working to recover the leased and encroached lands.

"Not a single inch of land will be encroached and all forest lands will be recovered," he said.

Explaining the lease details, a senior forest department official said, around 7,000 acres of forest lands has been leased and the dues pending to the government are to the tune of over Rs 2000 crore. The largest land parcels leased are in Coorg and BRT forest divisions to coffee and rubber plantations.

"The land lessees are now claiming to be owners of the land and the lease amounts are due since the last 30 years. When the lands were first leased in 1909, the lease period was for 999 years, which was later changed by the state government in 1940 to a period of 99 years. But this has also now found to be a long pending duration," the official said.

The lease agreement conditions have been violated, resorts and home stays have come up in timber and coffee plantations. The companies have also sold the land to others and even sub- leased the land citing financial losses.

'Mining proposal threat to medicinal plants in Sandur'

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

PROTECTING the Devadari Hills and forests in Sandur taluk is imperative to ensure availability of Olibanum gum used in medicines for arthritis and joint pains.

Olibanum gum, which has anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties, is used in ointments for pain relief. It is extracted from Boswellia serrata plants found in the forests of Sandur taluk and in the Devadari Hills.

Noted environmentalist and retired forest official AN Yellappa Reddy told TNSE that the forests and the native medicinal plant species of the region are in danger because of a proposal for mining there.

"If need be, the forest department and the state government should move courts to protect the region that houses such endemic and native medicinal plant species," he said.

Reddy was speaking on the sidelines of a function to mark 60 years of 'My Forests' in the city on Saturday. Forest, environment and ecology minister Eshwar B Khandre participated in the function.

A senior forest official said,

"Not many know that Ballari is a rich forest habitat. It is home to many unique plant species. The area is rich in minerals which support forest produce. The climate is suitable for the soil to be fertile. It's a rare and unique combination."

Highlighting the importance of Boswellia serrata plant, Yellappa Reddy said there are 20 other medicinal plant species in the region. The gum extracted from the plant is not only used in pain relief ointments, but also as a flavouring agent.

The region should be protected. Using CAMPA funds, efforts should also be made to create such forests in other areas. It is unfortunate that the region is being deforested. The government should direct the mining companies to revive the forest patches once their mining lease expires, he said

CONGRESS MLC BK Hariprasad has called on CM Siddaramaiah to initiate a fresh investigation into the Adani Group's alleged role in a bribery scandal in connection with the Belekeri illegal iron ore smuggling case based on the Lokayukta inquiry report.

"A case should be registered against Adani Group as per the Lokayukta investigation into the Belekeri illegal mining ore case and action should be taken against those involved in it," Hariprasad said on Saturday. "It is clear that the forest department have confiscated the ore while the Adani Group was smuggling the wealth of Karnataka," he said. He said despite the serious charges, the BJP-led NDA government at the Centre stands accused of shielding the Adani Group.

"A damning 2011 Karnataka Lokayukta report, led by Justice N. Santosh Hegde, exposed Adani Enterprises' involvement in a major bribery and illegal mining scandal.

Girl raped by 10 men for 10 months

Chennai: A third-year college student with mental health issues was allegedly raped by a group of 10 young men over a period of 10 months, Greater Chennai Police sources said on Saturday. GST RATES OUTRAGE: NEED FOR PUBLIC CONSULTATION

THE THIRD EYE

SHANKKAR AIYAR
Author of The Gated Republic, Aadhaar: A Biometric History of India's 12 Digit Revolution, and Accidental India
(shankkar.aiyar@gmail.com)

TIMING matters in politics and for public policy. On November 29, India was informed that GDP growth had slid to 5.4 percent. On December 2, even as the GDP shock was being absorbed, headlines screamed an increase in the goods and services tax on items ranging from tobacco and aerated drinks to nearly 150 products. Many of the items are considered necessities of middle class life and consumption, and the proposed hikes based on price points triggered public ire. It was as if the fuse of mass angst was lit. It sparked visual and textual expressions of outrage on social media.

The saga merits detailing. From its inception, the GST template has been riven by multiple rates—nearly three-fourths of the revenue comes from the 18 percent slab—and confounding definitions. On July 2, the GST Council constituted a Group of Ministers on rate rationalisation—including ministers from Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, West Bengal, Kerala and Karnataka—convened under Samrat Chaudhary, Deputy Chief Minister of Bihar.

The GoM is said to have recommended a slew of changes in the rates, beginning with a 35 percent slab for 'sin goods'. The proposals included raising GST to 18 percent on products priced between ₹1,500 and ₹10,000, and 28 percent for goods priced above ₹10,000. For instance, the GST on wrist watches priced over ₹25,000 was to be hiked from 18 percent to 28 percent, and shoes costing over ₹15,000 would attract 28 percent. Coinages and comparisons, including memes on GST rates for luxury electric vehicles and regular cars, punctuated the narrative. Indeed, the Clothing Manufacturers Association warned the rise in rates would lead to a loss of 1,00,000 jobs.

The furore catalysed a clarification. A day later, the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs tweeted, "Reports in public media on the basis of GoM deliberations are premature and speculative." The CBIC added that the GST Council had not deliberated on changes as it is yet to receive the report from the GoM. Interestingly. members of the GoM are yet to speak up. Suffice to say that the recommendations seem to be in play even if the decision awaits the December 21 GST Council meeting in Jaisalmer.

The "recommendations" symbolise a misalignment, the fault lines in the understanding of the state of the economy. Consider the state of play here. It is no secret that entry-level products from consumer goods to 100-cc bikes at the frontier of pricing have struggled—this has been explained away as "premiumisation" by some analysts. Be that as it may, data shows that urban consumption is waning and is propped up by demand at the top-end, big-ticket economy. The logic of pushing GST rates higher in a landscape of falling demand is mystifying, to say the least.

The outrage among taxpayers effectively signals the need for greater transparency and public consultation in the process. To start with, the GST Council must communicate what the defined objective of the rationalisation is. Is the objective simplifying the system or higher collections? In the past, the government has claimed that GST has enhanced tax buoyancy. While the GST Council has ceased publishing data on collections, news reports show that November saw gross GST collections, at ₹1.82 lakh crore, growing at 8.5 percent.

The quest for rationalisation raises critical questions. Is there a target for growth in GST collections and how is it aligned to economic growth? Is there a study or an estimate of potential at particular price points? Or is the quest for higher collections driven by the cost of meeting the price of populism? The answer is located in the fiscal stress faced by states. The capital expenditure of state governments is lower than the target, and revenue expenditure is rising—thanks to the array of sops announced in the run-up to elections—enabled by the flow of GST revenues and the facility of direct benefit transfers. Just the tag of cash transfers to women costs state governments over ₹2 trillion.

Do stakeholders have a say? It is a moot point if the process of GST Council GoMs allows for representations, at least on tax rate proposals. For instance, the standing committees of parliament allows for representations and submissions on a wide range of issues that are under deliberation of the members of parliament. There is also the provision for study groups. What's more, the committees make the representations public. If the parliament of India can accommodate voices, why would the GST Council shy from inducting views?

Indeed, the decision tree of GST rate determination—from the GoM to GST Council approval—can do with some space for stakeholder feedback. For instance, the Union budget is made public and comes into force only after a public debate and deliberations by the MPs who vote on it. The process allows the government to make crucial course corrections on tax proposals or on definitions following public and political response. Similarly, the GST Council could first make public the rationale and recommendations of the GoM, and allow for a fortnight or so for feedback. There is both convention and a case for the GST Council to allow wider public consultations, induct submissions for consideration before adoption of the proposed changes.

The people do not have a vote on the GST Council, but surely they deserve a space to voice their views.

EVOLVING BEYOND THE MODI FACTOR

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE

MAKARAND PARANJAPE
Director of education, Access Health Care Physicians

THE BJP-led Mahayuti alliance's victory in the Maharashtra assembly elections has been both celebrated and scrutinised, with the slogan "Batenge to katenge" often highlighted as the pivotal factor behind this success. This catchphrase—translating to "if we are divided, we will be cut down"—has been interpreted in various ways, reflecting the complex socio-political landscape of India. But it calls for a deeper exploration of the reasons and implications behind this electoral triumph.

In my view, "Batenge to katenge" is just the tip of the iceberg. The winning phrase seems to indicate that a Hindu consolidation ensured Mahayuti's victory. Then what of the reported 22 percent of Muslims who also voted for the so-called rightwing alliance? Again, the official answer trotted out is that Ajit Pawar pulled in these votes.

In support of this thesis, we even saw some identifiably Muslim Mahayuti supporters offering their own interpretation of the slogan. According to them, all Indians, regardless of whether we are Hindus or Muslims, must unite for the national good. That is the true meaning of "Batenge to katenge". If true, this is indeed heartening. Yet, traditionally, "batna" has been a common word for conversion to Islam.

If it now implies a reverse coalition, if not conversion, into a cohesive Hindu-Muslim Indian identity and voting bloc, that is definitely welcome. But how many believe this to be true? It seems far more idealistic than is perhaps warranted—wishful thinking rather than the ground reality in most of India. For, everywhere else in India, the same slogan has been seen as an electoral war-cry against Muslims and a rallying call to Hindus to support the BJP and its partners.

If Hindu consolidation alone cannot explain the Maha victory, what else can?

The second reason advanced is that the Rashritya Swayamsewak Sangh (RSS), the BJP's real creator and ideological mentor, played a significant role in this election. Its cadres wholeheartedly participated in these elections unlike the Lok Sabha polls, mobilised extensively, and worked on the ground to ensure voter support. The RSS's involvement suggests a structured, grassroots campaign that went beyond mere slogans, focusing on direct voter participation and turnout.

ANI

It was, however, clear that in return they wanted Devendra Fadnavis as chief minister once again. This promise or tacit understanding likely motivated RSS workers and BJP cadres. A strategic placement of a known and respected figure might have reassured voters of stability and continuity in governance. Yet, this came about somewhat belatedly, with all sorts of drama, including sulking and caste-mongering with the tacit support, as some allege, of the top brass of the BJP.

But now comes the real rub, possibly the most controversial part of the analysis. What do Maharashtra and Haryana have in common when it comes to the recent electoral results, apart from the above two factors? No, I am not talking of electronic voting machine manipulation or tampering. True, both states delivered surprise victories to the BJP, with margins much larger than anyone had forecast or anticipated. What else did they have in common?

Yes, you guessed right. The Modi-Shah control in both states was much less visible or evident than earlier. Even the campaign strategies and appeals to the voters were different. It was no longer Modi alone, even at the state level. Instead, considerable leeway was given to the state level leaders and organisation to plan, manage and execute the campaigns. Also, the all-important choice of candidates. The result? The BJP won handsomely.

The overwhelming dependence or showcasing of only one leader, however tall, is no longer the winning game plan. This may mean a diminished stature for Modi. Already indicated by the remarks of RSS Sarsanghachalak Mohanrao Bhagwat cutting, as many have commented, Modi a couple of notches down to size. The RSS does not like a personality cult overshadowing the ideology. Modi, although extraordinary even by RSS standards, is no exception. If I were to paraphrase Bhagwat, then those who wish to serve should not have a huge ego.

But other than bringing back a little more of the old Narendrabhai and a little less of Messiah Modi, what we might observe is that here is a party that learns quickly, adapts to the changing realities, corrects course and returns to power. This is what makes the BJP the largest and most formidable political force in the recent history of India. And the credit for this must go, in large measure, to Narendra Modi and Amit Shah.

Compare this fast-learning ability to the Congress's deep inertia or state of stupor. The entire Congress machine, once so effective, seems to be stuck in a rut. Rahul Gandhi, despite his persistence, is unable to offer message of hope, let alone a strong alternative to the BJP narrative. Instead, he is seen as been perennially negative, even "anti-Indian". The BJP strategy to link him to destabilising foreign forces also seems to stick to him like a burr. There are, in addition, the ongoing cases against him and issues of his citizenship and loyalty.

In India's changing political landscape, our federal structure, which implies at least the partial autonomy of state leadership, cannot be wished away. A critical factor in both the Haryana and Maharashtra victories was the shift in campaign strategy from a Modi-centric to a state-centric approach. The BJP's move away from an over-reliance on Modi's charisma to a more decentralised campaign that leverages local leaders' popularity and understanding of regional issues seems to have paid rich dividends.

The lesson? Modi is no longer the winning face of the BJP? No. Certainly not.

While some might see these elections results as signalling a diminishing of Modi's stature, it would be more accurate to view it as a strategic evolution. Modi and Shah's ability to adapt BJP's campaign strategy to local contexts showcases their political acumen. This decentralisation doesn't reduce Modi's influence, but rather, complements his national appeal with regional strengths.

Modi is still the BJP's—and India's—tallest leader. But now there is a little more room for some significant others—not only Yogi Adityanath, but also Devendra Fadnavis—to rise and shine.

OPINION

GEETHA RAVICHANDRAN
Former bureaucrat and author, most recently of The Spell of the Rain Tree

A recent report on Lindt dark chocolates stated that they contain lead and cadmium above the acceptable levels, which has not been denied by the company. On the contrary, it has responded that the presence of heavy metals is inevitable in cocoa. While a class action suit has been filed in the US, it is business as usual for the company.

A few years ago, there was another controversy involving Nestle's Maggi noodles, which was found to contain lead and monosodium glutamate during a lab test in Uttar Pradesh. There was a ban on the product for a few months in 2015, which was subsequently lifted. The irony is that this product, made of refined flour, was marketed with the tagline 'Taste bhi, health bhi'.

While food from around the world is available to entice our palates, there is no guarantee that what we are eating is healthy or even safe. The non-profit Access to Nutrition Initiative has published a study that multinational companies sell less healthy food in low-income countries, where their business volumes are more, while richer countries are privileged to get better quality. The health star rating on a scale of 5 was 2.3 for richer countries, compared to 1.8 for poorer ones. This is a stark example of exploitation and discrimination.

The labelling of processed foods in India is regulated by the Food Safety and Standards Authority, which prescribes the content to display on the packaging. This includes specifying ingredients, their nutritional value and the expiry date. The amount of sugar, salt, additives, artificial sweeteners and trans-fat are also to be displayed. However, even with this information, products make unverifiable claims that they are eco-friendly, organic or diet-friendly.

The Indian Council of Medical Research's National Institute of Nutrition has recently released a report on the nature and prevalence of misleading food labels. This is relevant as there is a rise in non-communicable diseases and obesity due to consumption of packaged food. The report highlighted that many consumers do not read food labels. Actually, consumers should be reading between the lines. For instance, a package of berries touted as healthy snacking may contain added sugar, mentioned in the list of ingredients but strategically not specified in nutritional facts.

Buyers are influenced by claims on health without scrutinising the labels. Nutritional claims have been seen to vary from nutritional facts. Advertising has a subliminal effect on viewers and fact-check on them seldom happens. Labels thus serve to conceal more than what they reveal.

The food processing industry has contributed to the increased shelf-life, better supply chains and security of food. However, the lack of transparency in the processes and the presence of additives and preservatives could impact consumer health. Food has long been equated with medicine. On the contrary, foods marketed today are proving to be a leading cause of diseases and metabolic disorders.

While there is an emerging trend towards consuming organic foods, they attract only niche consumers due to expense and availability. Similarly, dairy products and livestock have also come under scrutiny for the nature of feed and supplements that are used for them. Putting local and seasonal produce on the table where the source can be eyeballed is the way forward. More information regarding the origin and practices adopted in food production should be made available. Consumers should be able to access such information by scanning a QR code.

Food labels serve to conceal more than they reveal. Even then, we must inform ourselves of the nutritional values of the ingredients listed. We can't take the processed food industry's word on its healthiness

The FSSAI has recently classified packaged water as a high-risk food to be subject to mandatory audits. Bottled water is unquestioningly assumed to be safe. However, profiteering has managed to dilute its safety standards. This proactive measure is therefore welcome. The FSSAI also conducts periodic quality checks. But the mushrooming of kitchens and speedy consumption of food poses regulatory challenges. Consumer vigilance is therefore vital.

The current level of research determines our knowledge of various foods. Many products vilified as unhealthy are resurrected subsequently and vice versa. For instance, a few years ago, coconut oil was shunned as a trigger for heart diseases. At present, proponents vouch for its properties in preventing neurodegenerative diseases and seed oils, which were once vigorously promoted, are considered harmful. Therefore, it is necessary to assimilate practices of food traditions which have been validated over the years. The hereditary nature of the gut microbiome and its role in the digestive process make the case for paying attention to traditional diets.

Popular food shows and social media clips focus on individual choices and control in dietary habits. However, structural forces that govern global trade, retailing and processing determine food availability and access. The prevalence of above-average rates of Type 2 diabetes in former colonies like India and the Philippines indicates how starvation and famine in one generation affects future generations through epigenetics.

The production and marketing of polished grains and refined foods have also contributed to this phenomenon. The increasing awareness of the environmental impact of particular products also tends to influence consumer behaviour. There is, however, a need to be wary of unsubstantiated green-washing assertions.

We need to curb the exaggerated, generic claims by the food industry. The principle of caveat emptor—buyer beware—should guide the consumer. Nutritional literacy, which includes and goes beyond just reading the labels, would help buyers make informed choices. While it is not possible to condense all the knowledge about the food on our plates, mindfulness will contribute to better health.

Ref: RBI must restore balance between inflation and growth (Dec 7). The RBI's lowering of the cash reserve ratio will increase banks' liquidity and help them to spruce up books by cutting bulk deposit rates. This will not aid growth; in fact it may result in higher inflation. It may increase the possibility of higher defaults, for which RBI has already raised red flags. This is the right time to spur growth by reducing rates, but the RBI is yet to move towards that.

Fiscal function

Restoring balance between growth and inflation is essential for policymakers dedicated to development. Elevated inflation diminishes purchasing power, which in turn affects sales and investment. Neglecting inflation in the pursuit of growth could result in instability. Here, fiscal policy would be crucial—a careful balance between growth and budget management to curtail inflation, while taking global influences into account.

India issues Syria travel advisory, asks citizens to return at the earliest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA on Saturday issued an advisory for its citizens in Syria to return at the earliest and also urged others to drop any travel plans to the insurgency-hit country.

Reports on Saturday said Syrian rebels are closing in on Damascus from north and south, and have entered the key city of Homs. They have already captured Dera.

The rebels, led by jihadi group Hayat Tahrir al-Sham that intends to overthrow President Bashar Al-Assad and establish a new government, had seized Aleppo last week and Hama on Friday.

According to the UN, at least 3,70,000 people have been displaced and this figure is estimated to hit 1.5 million.

"In view of the situation prevailing in Syria, Indian nationals are advised to avoid all travel to that country until further notification. Indians currently in Syria are requested to remain in touch with Indian Embassy in Damascus," said the advisory issued by the Ministry of External Affairs.

India has also advised those who can, to leave by the earliest available commercial flights. Others were requested to observe utmost precaution about their safety and restrict their movements to the minimum.

There are around 90 Indian nationals in Syria, including 14 working in various UN organisations.

"We have taken note of the recent escalation in fighting in the north of Syria. We are closely following the situation. Our mission remains in close contact with our nationals for their safety and security," MEA spokesman Randhir Jaiswal said on Friday.

The latest offensive by the rebels has broken a long-standing stalemate in the nearly 14-year-long Syrian civil war.

Working on resolution of Ukraine conflict, says EAM

Jaishankar says needle moving towards negotiations than a longer war

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THERE is a possibility of resolution of the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said on Saturday. "The needle is moving more towards the reality of negotiations than the continuation of the war," the minister said on the sidelines of the Doha Forum on Saturday.

Jaishankar, who is on a two-day visit to Qatar, also said that India is walking the talk, by going to Moscow for talks with President Vladimir Putin, and going to Kyiv to engage President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, and transparently carrying the messages to each other.

"India is trying to find common threads that can be picked up at some time," he added.

India is articulating the sentiments of the Global South, comprising 125 other countries, who have found the costs of their fuel, food, fertilisers and inflation impacted by this war, Jaishankar said.

"In the last few weeks and months, I have even seen this sentiment expressed by major European leaders, who are actually asking us to keep engaging with Russia and Ukraine. So we do think that things are moving somewhere in that direction," the minister added.

Referring to US President-elect Donald Trump's recent threats that he would impose 100 per cent import tariffs on BRICS nations if they go ahead with a BRICS currency, Jaishankar said, "I am not exactly sure what the trigger was, but we have always said that India has never been for de-dollarisation. Right now, there is no proposal to have a BRICS currency." He also explained how BRICS countries do not have an identical position on the issue.

Answering a question about the situation in the Gulf region and the latest in Syria, the minister highlighted how there is a widening of conflict and gave examples of Israel-Iran firing at each other. He said the situation in Red Sea is impacting shipping for Asia.

"I think diplomats of the world have to tell themselves, it is a messy world. It is terrible. But therefore, there is all the more reason for them to step forward," he said, adding that the era of the 60s and 70s when the UN Security Council or a few Western powers managed such conflicts is "behind us."

PUSHPARAJ

THE HERO WHO ENCHANTS A NATION

SHREYAS PANDE

SOURAV ROY

WHEN the trailer of Allu Arjun's Pushpa 2: The Rule was launched in Patna, thousands thronged the event, eager to catch a glimpse of the star who embodies the almost-mythical protagonist of the franchise. For an audience often alienated by language barriers, Pushpa speaks a universal dialect of defiance and resilience. Bihar, a state known for its rampant worker migration, connects deeply with Pushpa's disheveled hair, stained clothes, and beedi-smoking demeanor. He isn't just a cinematic hero; he's one of them. His unyielding self-respect and fearless defiance become cathartic, a cinematic escape from their oppressive reality.

The overwhelming success of Pushpa in the northern belts lies in this inherent working-class ethos. When modern Hindi cinema heroes often emerge from urban spaces, suited up and armed with high-tech gadgets, Pushpa cuts a strikingly raw figure, holding nothing more than an axe. This spirit of rebellion and dignity recalls Amitabh Bachchan's iconic working-class hero from Deewar (1975). In the first Pushpa, when his boss asks him to change his sitting posture, Pushpa quits the job, refusing even an extra note offered as a settlement. "This is enough for the work I have done," he says, echoing Bachchan's Vijay in Deewar: "Main aaj bhi phenke hue paise nahi uthata" (I refuse to accept money that is thrown at me). Like Vijay, Pushpa's anthem, "Main Jhukega Nahi" (I will not bow), captures his unrelenting quest for dignity.

At its heart, Pushpa thrives on the underdog sentiment, coupled with Sukumar's stylised visuals. Pushpa is a 'local hero,' his swagger embodied in his bent walk and the now-iconic gesture of brushing his beard. Allu Arjun, who fittingly won a national award for his performance, is Pushpa incarnate in both films. This isn't a performance aimed to play up stardom; this is simply the actor trusting that the character is bigger than him. And it works.

Pushpa's violent retaliation against authority isn't just about him; it's an empowering release for audiences. In Pushpa 2: The Rule, Sukumar takes this to greater heights, presenting challenges that Pushpa conquers with rowdy flamboyance. And for that reason — and for the wave of support this character has garnered across the country — he is our newsmaker this week.

NEWSMAKER

Beneath the hyperactive exterior, the films are nuanced character studies of a broken man fighting back. While Pushpa's alpha-male tendencies dominate his business dealings, his interactions with his mother and wife reveal a vulnerable core (captured in the song Sooseki). This duality — fearless on the outside, tender at home — grounds Pushpa and sets him apart from characters like Ranbir Kapoor's Ranvijay in Animal, whose narcissism consumes everything around. Pushpa, like Bachchan's Vijay, is ultimately tethered by love.

Sukumar explores this duality beautifully in the pre-interval exchange between Pushpa and Inspector Shekhawat, who had belittled Pushpa's mother in the first film. As Pushpa contemplates whether to apologise, the moment transcends ego. It becomes a reflection on identity and dignity. His eventual refusal to say 'sorry' is not an entitled act but a reclamation of self-worth in a world that constantly 'others' the working class, in a world that may promote you and give you power but still constantly assert its superiority over you any chance it gets. Pushpa's defiance forces those around him to confront their biases, making him a symbol of resistance against an unequal system.

This grounded ethos resonates deeply in the Hindi belts, offering reassurance that has been missing in mainstream Hindi cinema, which has shifted its focus to urban narratives. Pushpa harks back to the 80s and 90s, an era when working-class heroes dominated the silver screen. The response to both films in the northern belts is a testament to this nostalgia. There's dialoguebaazi, heart-thumping action, melodrama, and song-and-dance — all the ingredients that once fuelled single-screen theatres with rapturous energy. That these films are fronted by a Telugu superstar only underscores the universality of their appeal. There's poetry in how these power dynamics transcend societies and languages. It's no wonder that what was 'fire' in the first film has become 'wildfire' in the second.

Drop in India's TB burden doubled since 2015: Nadda

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

UNION Health Minister JP Nadda on Saturday said the rate of decline of tuberculosis incidence in India has doubled since 2015 and is ahead of the global average.

Speaking at the inauguration of a 100-day nationwide intensified campaign in Haryana's Panchkula to reduce TB cases and mortality, Nadda said, "We will take detection, tests, treatment and supportive strategies forward at a fast pace under this programme."

The 100-day campaign will be implemented in 347 districts of 33 states where the prevalence of tuberculosis is higher.

The campaign is focused on enhancing detection, reducing diagnostic delays and improving treatment outcomes.

India, which tops the list of 30 countries with high-burden TB cases, aims to eliminate TB by 2025, five years ahead of the target set by SDG.

Nadda highlighted the country's long struggle in its fight against tuberculosis, saying that at one time TB was considered "slow death". "Even family members suffering from TB were isolated to prevent its spread. Since 1962, there have been many campaigns against tuberculosis, but in 2018, the Prime Minister put forth a vision to end TB much before the 2030 deadline of the Sustainable Development Goals," he said.

Union Health Minister JP Nadda speaks at the launch of intensified 100-Day TB Elimination Campaign at Panchkula in Haryana on Saturday | X

"We changed strategies to achieve the aim. Services have been decentralised and now, 1,73,000 Ayushman Arogya Mandirs will have the facilities to detect and treat tuberculosis," the minister said.

He also said molecular technologies have been introduced for TB detection. Also, a new and shorter regimen of tuberculosis treatment has been started to help increase compliance and fight TB, he said.

Nadda highlighted that the rate of TB incidence decline in India has doubled from 8.3 per cent in 2015 to 17.7 per cent now, which is much ahead of the global average. TB deaths have also reduced significantly in India by 21.4 per cent in the last 10 years, he said.

"Ni-kshay support worth ₹3,338 crore has been provided through direct benefit transfer to over 1.17 crore tuberculosis patients," Nadda said, underscoring that the government has increased Ni-kshay poshan amount from ₹500 to ₹1,000 and added energy boosters for the nourishment of patients.

Indian youth brutalised in Myanmar cyber fraud cell hospitalised, say relatives

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

TWENTY-two-year-old Ajay, one of the Indian youths trapped in a cyber scam centre in Myanmar, has been hospitalised after being brutally beaten up, his relative revealed.

"We heard that Ajay's health has deteriorated after he was kept in a dark room, given electric shocks and beaten up till his body turned blue. He has been hospitalised within the cyber fraud centre and couldn't speak," said Ajay's relative Ram Janam.

The youth had left his house in Uttar Pradesh's Lucknow eight months ago after being offered a call centre job in Malaysia, but ended up in a cyber fraud centre at JPark in Myanmar's Megalahpo. Sagar and Rahul, two others who accompanied him, have since returned to India, but Ajay continues to be trapped with the fraudsters. He is reportedly being tortured for declining to work.

According to officials, there are six Indian men hauled up in this cyber scam centre, which is located just 2 km away from Thailand border. The Indian government is making all effort for their release.

"Six Indian youths are presently held up in that centre; 72 of us, who were shifted to another centre called Dongmae, managed to return to India. I have heard that Ajay is being tortured, locked in a dark room for days, given electric shocks and denied food. I wish he returns home safely," said 25-year-old Rahul, who managed to return in September, sick with dengue.

Ajay's family is unable to afford the ransom being demanded for his release, but they worry for his health and safety.

"We have learnt that the government has managed to identify these six Indian youths and are hopeful that they would return soon. Ajay's old parents are waiting for him, oblivious of what he is going through," Ram Janam added.

According to the youths who have managed to return, these call centres are being illegally operated by Chinese people with assistance from local Myanmarese people who ensure that the captured youths do not escape. They said people of different nationalities have ended up in the centre.

Warm Nov made sugarcane less sweet, prone to pests

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

WARMER winter has reduced the sweetness of jaggery and created a conducive weather for pest attacks on sugarcane plants in western Uttar Pradesh, one of the largest sugarcane producer belts in the country.

According to the India Meteorological Department, November was the warmest month for Northwest India since 1901. The normal mean temperature is 18.77 °C which rose to 20.14 °C. Northwest India meteorological region, of which Western UP is a part, shows 80% deficient rainfall in November.

Generally, local manufacturing centres start processing jaggery from November. But warmer November led to higher water content and lesser formation of sucrose in sugarcane plants reduced its productivity, experts say.

Warmer weather also created a conducive condition of pest attack on sugarcane crops. "There are still relatively higher water content in cane even in first week of December instead of sucrose which led to either lesser jaggery production or no production," said Nischay Mallik, owner of Freyr Food, a jaggery manufacturing unit in Muzaffarnagar. "The recovery rate of jiggery is still below 8% from the cane," he said.

According to the latest bulletin of National Federation of Cooperative Sugar Factories, this year sugar recovery rate from sugarcane is 7.85%, which was 8.60% last year. Farmers feel that 15-20% of crops get affected due to diseases and warmer weather.

"Generally, the sugarcane growth stage ends at the end of middle of October and harvesting, processing of crops and jaggery start in early November. But this year monsoon rain extended till the first week of October and later higher temperatures than normal were observed which invited pests and led to late sucrose formation," said Mallik.

Season's first cold wave to hit by next week

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

SEASON'S first cold wave is about to start from next week as a western disturbance is likely to enter western Himalayas. It will set off icy cold winds from snow-clad Himalayas inducing a major drop in temperature next week, said IMD.

Under its influence, a light to moderate rainfall will take place in Punjab, Haryana, Chandigarh and Uttar Pradesh and snowfall over Jammu and Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand. A dense fog is likely to engulf eastern and northwest India. There would be a drop in minimum temperature in the range of 2-8°C in northern plains.

"A fresh Western Disturbance is seen as a trough in middle tropospheric westerlies," the IMD said.

Canadian Parliament rejects motion to declare 1984 Sikh riots as 'genocide'

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Canadian Parliament has rejected the motion to declare the 1984 anti-Sikh riots as genocide following stiff resistance from lawmakers like Chandra Arya, who claimed that he was threatened inside the parliament building for opposing the motion, which he described as being influenced by a "politically powerful Khalistani lobby."

Arya urged the Hindu-Canadians to contact their local Members of Parliament and seek their commitment to oppose this motion if it arises again. The motion was introduced by New Democratic Party MP Sukh Dhaliwal before the House of Commons standing committee on foreign affairs and international development.

Arya, the Indian origin MP, who opposed the move, stated that he was the only MP present in the House of Commons to oppose the motion thus blocking its passage.

> While I am proud in having stopped this divisive agenda from succeeding today, we cannot afford to be complacent. Next time, we may not be as fortunate. The politically powerful Khalistani lobby will try again to push for Parliament to label the 1984 riots as genocide.
>
> Chandra Arya, Canadian lawmaker

Taking to X he wrote, "Today, the Member of Parliament from Surrey-Newton attempted to have the Parliament declare the 1984 riots in India against Sikhs as a genocide. He sought unanimous consent from all Members in the House of Commons to pass his motion. I was the only Member present in the House to say NO, and my single objection was enough to prevent this motion from being approved."

Immediately after the incident, she claimed to have been threatened inside the Parliament building. There have been several attempts, both within the Parliament and outside to stop him from freely and publicly voicing the concerns of Hindu-Canadians, he added.

"While I am proud in having stopped this divisive agenda from succeeding today, we cannot afford to be complacent. Next time, we may not be as fortunate. The politically powerful Khalistani lobby will undoubtedly try again to push for Parliament to label the 1984 riots as genocide. There is no guarantee I will be in the House to block it the next time any other Member, from any political party, attempts to bring this motion forward," he wrote.

He said, "The 1984 anti-Sikh riots in India, which followed the assassination of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi by her Sikh bodyguards, were undeniably barbaric."

Thousands of innocent Sikhs lost their lives in those horrific events, and we all condemn this brutality without reservation," he said.

Temple burnt in Bangla: ISKCON

Kolkata official says idols gutted, expresses concern over arrested Krishna Das's safety

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

AMID continuing violence against minorities, including Hindus, the International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) on Saturday said that its temple in Bangladesh's capital Dhaka was burnt down earlier in the day.

ISKCON Kolkata vice president Radharamn Das said that vandals set ablaze idols inside the temple at the Namhatta property. "ISKCON Namhatta Centre was burned down in Bangladesh. The deities of Sri Sri Laxmi Narayan temple and all items inside the temple were burned down completely... The temple, which falls under the Hare Krishna Namhatta Sangha is located in Dhour village under the jurisdiction of Turag police station in Dhaka district," Das said.

"The fire was initiated by lifting the tin roof at the back of the temple and using petrol or octane," he said. "It seems that atrocities against minorities in Bangladesh are continuing unabated," he added.

According to Charu Chandra Das Brahmachary, general secretary of ISKCON, Bangladesh, the temple was set on fire after lifting the tin roof. "The fire was, however, doused quickly but an idol was damaged and curtains burnt," he added.

A Turag police station official said a manhunt was launched to track down the culprits.

ISKCON had claimed earlier that many of its centres and temples were being forcibly shut down in Bangladesh. Das had also urged devotees and monks in the neighbouring country to be discreet and not wear tilak or saffron garb in public. The issue was also raised in the Lok Sabha with BJP members urging the government to ensure the safety of Hindus and ISKCON followers in Bangladesh.

The relations between India and Bangladesh came under strain after the interim government headed by Muhammad Yunus came to power after deposed prime minister Sheikh Hasina fled the country on August 5 following a student-led protest.

The relations deteriorated further in recent weeks over continued attacks on Hindus and especially after the recent arrest of Hindu monk Chinmoy Krishna Das, a former member of ISKCON Bangladesh and now, a spokesperson for the Bangladesh Sammilita Sanatani Jagran Jote organisation. The Iskcon Kolkata vice president also expressed concern over Chinmoy Krishna Das's safety following his denial of bail and the violent attacks.

Das' arrest in a sedition case on November 25 from Dhaka's Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport had triggered demonstrations by supporters of the monk. An assistant government prosecutor, Saiful Islam Alif, was killed during a protest in Chattogram after the monk was denied bail on November 26. Protests have broken out in West Bengal and other parts of India over the arrest of Krishna Das in Dhaka.

The attacks on Hindus in Bangladesh have triggered protests in India. The Bangladesh foreign ministry summoned the Indian envoy recently and lodged a protest over the storming of the Bangladeshi mission in Agartala by a group of protesters.

Meanwhile, in the Indian state of Assam, the Barak Valley Hotel and Restaurant Association has announced they would not host any Bangladesh national till attacks on Hindus and other minorities in the neighbouring country stopped. A private hospital and some doctors in West Bengal had announced that they would not treat Bangladeshi patients, while hotels in Malda have also barred guests from the neighbouring country.

BJP MLA wants ban on beef sale, JD(U) sees red

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

INSPIRED by his senior party colleague and Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, Bihar BJP MLA Haribhushan Thakur Bachaul on Saturday demanded a ban on sale of beef in hotels, restaurants and public places of the state. This request has left their ally, the JD(U), feeling uneasy, as it could raise concerns among minorities about the party's secular credentials.

While welcoming the Assam government's recent decision on the beef ban, Bachaul stated that the Bihar government too should follow suit and impose a similar ban by respecting sentiments of Hindus.

"Sentiments of Hindus have been respected in Assam. In Bihar too, crores of people have faith in cow and its slaughter is not proper from any yardstick.

Smuggling of bovines like cows and calves is also taking place unhindered and it can stop if Bihar too follows Assam on this matter," he contended.

The MLA said that strongest possible action should be taken against those selling beef in Bihar, adding that it hurts religious sentiments and also creates tension in society.

JD(U) MLC Khalid Anwar sharply criticised the proposal, stating that it was not part of the NDA's agenda. He accused Himanta Biswa Sarma, of having a "negative mentality." "Assam has a significant population of Muslims and Christians whose main diet includes beef. What will they do now?" he questioned.

Further intensifying his criticism of the ruling party, Anwar alleged that some BJP leaders in Bihar share a mindset similar to Sarma's, which is why they support the demand for a ban on beef sales similar to that in Assam.

"We have been running a government in Bihar for the last 19 years and we have not given any thought to such an issue," Anwar asserted.

BJP warhorses' bonhomie at Bhajan Sandhya

A Bhajan Sandhya in Sagar district was held recently to mark ex-MP minister Bhupendra Singh's son Abhiraj Singh's birthday. Former cabinet minister Gopal Bhargava caught the attention of political pundits of Bundelkhand region. While Singh and Bhargava (old warhorses who've represented distinct poles of BJP's politics in Bundelkhand for over four decades) denied the event being a show of political strength, political watchers sniffed in it a united attempt by the two veterans to counter rise of Jyotiraditya Scindia-loyalist MP minister Govind Singh Rajput in the politics of Sagar district.

25 given life in prison in Cong leader's murder

More than five years after Congress leader Devendra Chaurasia was brutally murdered at his stone crusher plant in Damoh district, a local court sentenced the 25 accused to life in prison. The accused included ex-BSP MLA Rambai Parihar's husband Govind Singh, his brother and nephew. Rambai was among the seven MLAs with whose support the Kamal Nath-led Congress government stood in power for 15 months. Rambai was in the news for pressurising the state government to get concessions for her kin lodged in the jail.

Major fire erupts In Gandhi Sagar sanctuary

Embers of early morning fire-lines with strong winds triggered a major blaze recently in western MP's Gandhi Sagar Wildlife Sanctuary. The fire, which was doused in 3 hours, affected around 40-hectare area, including a part of the big enclosure meant for housing the cheetahs. There was no casualty reported. Importantly, after the Kuno National Park (KNP) – the first home of African cheetahs in India since September 2022 in MP's Gwalior-Chambal region – the Gandhi Sagar Wildlife Sanctuary in west MP's Mandsaur and Neemuch districts, has been developed to become the second home to the cheetahs.

Modi made welfare state a reality, 25 cr lifted out of poverty, says Shah

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

HOME Minister Amit Shah on Saturday credited Prime Minister Narendra Modi for transforming the vision of a welfare state into a reality, a feat he claimed previous governments before 2014 pursued only in bits and pieces.

Highlighting Modi's approach, Shah noted that the Prime Minister recognized that India's progress hinges on addressing poverty among its 60-crore marginalised population. Over the past decade, Shah said, Modi's efforts have lifted 25 crore people out of poverty. "Prime Minister Modi grasped the mantra that India's development is impossible if 60 crore citizens remain in poverty, lifting 25 crore people out of poverty over the past decade," he said, addressing a gathering at the Gujarat Lok Seva Trust's annual event in Ahmedabad.

"Such monumental change can't be achieved by the government alone. If trusts, individuals, and service organisations unite, we can overcome this challenge swiftly," Shah said. "After a profound debate, Constituent Assembly president Rajendra Prasad concluded that the Constitution's core purpose must be to establish a welfare state," he added.

Shah said, "Every government before 2014 did what it could to work toward a welfare state, but my analysis as a student of statistics shows their efforts were piecemeal."

Highlighting past administration's fragmented approaches, he said, "Schemes for housing, drinking water, gas cylinders, healthcare, and free ration were introduced in bits and pieces. It was Narendra Modi who transformed the welfare state vision into a tangible reality."

After being elected in 2014, Narendra Modi pledged that no household would lack a toilet, no individual would be without a home or a gas cylinder, said Shah. "He (PM) ensured that no one went to bed hungry, providing 5 kg of free grains to 65 crore people every month—a feat unparalleled globally," he added, emphasized that since 2014, Modi has transformed the welfare state envisioned by the Constitution's framers into a reality, delivering basic amenities to 60 crore citizens.

"In the past decade, 25 crore people living below the UN-defined poverty line have risen out of it," Shah said.

Lack of snowfall at Badrinath raises concerns, climate change blamed

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

EXPERTS and priests of the Badrinath shrine have expressed concern over the absence of snowfall in the region until December, attributing to climate change.

Priest Uttam Bhatt from Devprayag, who resides at the shrine from the opening to the closing of the portals, remarked, "We have never witnessed a situation like this in the high Himalayan region as seen in 2024. There has been no snowfall during this six-month period, whereas in October 2023 alone, the area experienced snowfall three times."

Three weeks after the closure of the Badrinath temple gates, there has been no snowfall in Badripuri. The temple priests have begun to express concerns, stating, "The rampant movement of vehicles and the construction of all-weather roads in Badridham are contributing factors. It is essential to conduct a scientific study on this matter."

According to Professor S.C. Sati from the Department of Environmental Science at Uttarakhand University of Horticulture and Forestry, the current situation in high Himalayan regions like Badrinath is a result of seasonal variability. "The lack of rainfall in these areas has led to a decrease in snowfall," he stated.

Environmentalist Dev Raghavendra said, "The first week of December has passed, yet Kedarnath and other high-altitude mountains remain snowless. The Himalayan peaks also have only a negligible amount of snow, which is a serious cause for concern. Since September of this year, there has been neither rain nor snowfall in Kedarnath."

'No snowfall during the six-month period'

Priest Uttam Bhatt from Devprayag, who resides at the shrine from the opening to the closing of the portals, remarked, "We have never witnessed a situation like this in the high Himalayan region as seen in 2024. There has been no snowfall during this six-month period, whereas in October 2023, the area experienced snowfall three times."

Hit by bullet, Bihar man drives passengers to safety

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

IN an act of courage and bravery, a driver saved the life of at least 15 people in Bihar's Bhojpur district. Santosh Singh, despite sustaining a bullet injury in his stomach, drove nearly 15 kms to rescue the passengers.

Singh, a resident of Himmatpur near Ara in Bhojpur district, has been admitted to a private hospital. Doctors said that he underwent a survey as his entire intestine has been damaged by the bullet injury. Singh was returning from a 'Tilak' ceremony with 14-15 people aboard his jeep when two bike-borne miscreants chased the vehicle near Jhaun village and opened fire with a bullet hitting Singh's stomach.

Rajiv Chandra Singh, sub-divisional police officer of Jagdishpur, said that the bullet has been removed following a surgery at a hospital in Ara town. "He will remain under observation of a medical team for a few days," he said.

The police officer, however, revealed that the entire intestine was damaged. The police came to know that at least two vehicles were attacked on the same spot. "We have formed a special team to crack the case. An FSL team collected samples from the place of occurrence. A pellet has been recovered from the spot," the SDPO added. The driver's family members have lodged an FIR at Bihiya police station. Meanwhile, SIT has launched a manhunt to nab the accused.

Woman brings brother's body tied to taxi roof

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

UNABLE to afford the exorbitant fee charged by the ambulance service, a woman was forced to travel 195 kilometre from her village to Haldwani by tying the body of her brother, who died by suicide, to the roof of a taxi.

According to sources, after the post-mortem, the ambulance service demanded ₹12,000 to transport the body from Haldwani's mortuary to their hometown of Berinag. Shivani could not afford and her requests for assistance went unheard. Ultimately, she had no choice but to tie her brother's body to the roof of a taxi for the journey home.

Gaurav Joshi, the officer in charge of the Haldichaur police outpost at the Lal Kuan police station, stated that upon receiving the information, they rushed the unconscious Abhishek to the Sushila Tiwari Government Hospital in Haldwani.

Govind Prasad and his wife supported their daughter Shivani in moving to Halduchaur for work and sent their 20-year-old son, Abhishek Kumar, to join her. Shivani recounted, "On Friday morning, we went to work together, but Abhishek returned home citing a headache. When I came back for lunch, I found him missing and noticed a strange smell of medicine in his room." He was later discovered lying near the railway tracks close to their home. Abhishek was taken to Dr. Sushila Tiwari Government Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Clergy and guests gather inside Notre-Dame Cathedral ahead of a ceremony to mark the re-opening on Saturday | AFP

Notre Dame re-opens five years after inferno

PARIS

THE archbishop of Paris Laurent Ulrich re-opened Notre Dame cathedral on Saturday by symbolically knocking on its doors on three occasions and entering the 12th-century landmark which was devastated by a fire in 2019.

Wearing new designer vestments and carrying a staff cut from one of the roof beams that survived the inferno, Ulrich commanded the cathedral to "open your doors".

Held up as an example of French creativity and resilience by President Emmanuel Macron, Notre Dame's renaissance so soon after a 2019 blaze that destroyed its roof and spire comes at a difficult time for the country.

While the ceremony was initially planned to begin on the forecourt, unusually fierce December winds whipping across the central Paris island, flanked by the River Seine, forced all events inside. Yet the occasion lost none of its splendour. Inside the luminous nave, choirs are singing psalms, and the cathedral's mighty organ, silent for nearly five years, is thundering to life in a triumphant interplay of melodies.

The evening's celebration, being attended by 1,500 dignitaries, including President-elect Donald Trump, US First Lady Jill Biden, and Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, underscores Notre Dame's enduring role as both a spiritual and cultural beacon.

Trump is off on his first international trip as president-elect. Trump wrote when he accepted the invitation earlier this week that French President Emmanuel Macron had done "a wonderful job ensuring that Notre Dame has been restored to its full level of glory, and even more so. It will be a very special day for all!"

For President Emmanuel Macron, who championed the ambitious five-year restoration timeline, it was a rare moment of unity amid profound political crises and threats to his presidential legacy. Agencies

40 heads of state in Paris

US President-elect Donald Trump landed in Paris on Saturday his first international trip since his election win last month. With more than 40 heads of state and government expected in the French capital, the event provides a unique chance for world leaders to brush shoulders with Trump before the tycoon-turned politician takes office on January 20

S Korea president Yoon's impeachment fails

Most lawmakers from his conservative party boycott proceedings leaving Oppn unable to garner two-thirds of vote

SEOUL

SOUTH Korean President Yoon Suk Yeol escaped impeachment Saturday over his brief declaration of martial law, after lawmakers from his ruling party boycotted a vote despite huge protests outside parliament.

Yoon stunned the nation and the international community on Tuesday night by suspending civilian rule and sending troops to parliament, but was forced into a U-turn after lawmakers nixed his decree.

Opposition parties proposed the impeachment motion, which needed a two-thirds majority to pass, but a near-total boycott by Yoon's People Power Party (PPP) doomed it to failure.

"The number of members who voted did not reach the required two-thirds majority," National Assembly speaker Woo Won-shik said, saying that as a result, the impeachment vote was "not valid".

The country — and the world — was watching, he said, adding it was "very regrettable that a vote could not even be held on such a significant national issue".

He said it signified "a failure to engage in the democratic process" on the part of the ruling party. The PPP claimed after the vote that it had blocked the impeachment to avoid "severe division and chaos", adding that it would "resolve this crisis in a more orderly and responsible manner".

The outcome disappointed the huge crowds — numbering 150,000 according to police, one million according to organisers — demonstrating outside parliament for Yoon's ouster.

Demonstrators booed while some sighed or even wept in frustration as the ruling party lawmakers walked out of the chamber.

"Even though we didn't get the outcome we wanted today, I am neither discouraged nor disappointed because we will get it eventually," said Jo Ah-gyeong, 30. "I'll keep coming here until we get it," she said.

The opposition has already vowed to try again as soon as Wednesday, and many protesters vowed to continue demonstrations next weekend.

"I will impeach Yoon Suk Yeol, who has become the worst risk for South Korea, at any cost," opposition leader Lee Jae-myung said. Before the vote, Yoon, 63, apologised for the turmoil but said he would leave it to his party to decide his fate."I caused anxiety and inconvenience to the public. I sincerely apologise," he said in the televised address, his first public appearance in three days. AFP

Nobel winners flag AI's risks, call for strong regulation

STOCKHOLM

PHYSICS Nobel Prize winner Geoffrey Hinton and chemistry laureate Demis Hassabis on Saturday insisted on a need for strong regulation of artificial intelligence, which played a key role in their awards.

"AI is a very important technology to regulate but I think it's very important that we get the regulations right and I think that's the hard thing at the moment is it's such a fast moving technology," Hassabis told a news conference in Stockholm.

Hassabis, who jointly won with Americans David Baker and John Jumper for revealing the secrets of proteins through AI, said such evolutionary speed posed a giant challenge.

But the underlying issue, he said, is "about what do we want to use these systems for, how do we want to deploy them and making sure that all of humanity benefits from what these systems can do."

Syrian rebels reach Damascus suburbs

BEIRUT

INSURGENTS' stunning march across Syria gained speed on Saturday with news that they had reached the suburbs of the capital and with the government forced to deny rumours that President Bashar Assad had fled the country.

The rebels' moves around Damascus, reported by an opposition war monitor and a rebel commander, came after the Syrian army withdrew from much of southern part of the country, leaving more areas, including two provincial capitals, under the control of opposition fighters.

The advances in the past week were among the largest in recent years by opposition factions, led by a group that has its origins in al-Qaida and is considered a terrorist organization by the US and the United Nations. As they have advanced, the insurgents, led by the Hayat Tahrir al-Sham group, or HTS, have met little resistance from the Syrian army.

The UN's special envoy for Syria, Geir Pedersen, on Saturday called for urgent talks in Geneva to ensure an "orderly political transition". Speaking to reporters at the annual Doha Forum in Qatar, he said the situation in Syria was changing by the minute.

People gather around the back of a truck as anti-government forces distribute bread to the residents of Hama on Saturday | AFP

In Damascus, people rushed to stock up on supplies. Thousands rushed the Syria border with Lebanon, trying to leave the country.

Many shops in the capital were shuttered, a resident told The Associated Press, and those that remained open ran out of staples such as sugar. Some shops were selling items at three times the normal price.

"The situation is very strange. We are not used to that," the resident said, insisting on anonymity, fearing retributions.

It was the first time that opposition forces reach the outskirts of Damascus since 2018, when Syrian troops recaptured the area following a yearslong siege.

Amid the developments, Syria's state media denied rumors flooding social media that Assad has left the country, saying he is performing his duties in Damascus. AP

As insurgents pursue a shock offensive that quickly captured not just Aleppo, but the key city of Hama, Syria's Bashar Al Assad appears to be largely on his own

WHAT'S AILING ASSAD?

- Russia, Iran and Lebanon's powerful Hezbollah militia had helped Assad's tip the war firmly in his favour
- Now, Russia is preoccupied with its war in Ukraine, and Hezbollah, which at one point sent thousands of its fighters to shore up Assad's forces, has been weakened by a yearlong conflict with Israel. Iran, meanwhile, has seen its proxies across the region degraded by Israeli airstrikes

- Moreover, Syrian troops are exhausted and hollowed out by 13 years of war and economic crises with little will left to fight for

At least four dead in Netherlands explosion

THE HAGUE

AT least four people died on Saturday when an apartment complex in The Hague collapsed after a huge explosion and fire, authorities said, but firefighters managed to pull someone still alive from the rubble.

The blast and resulting inferno destroyed at least five homes but it was not clear how many people were buried in the debris, Mayor Jan van Zanen told reporters.

Authorities confirmed that four bodies had been pulled from the wreckage, as fears mounted that the toll could rise much higher.

An AFP reporter on-site saw scenes of devastation with debris strewn across the street, burned-out cars, blown-out windows and huge plumes of smoke.

Firefighters tackled the blaze from the ground and from huge cherry-pickers, as ambulances carried the injured to hospital and police helicopters circled overheard.

"It is not known how many people are still under the rubble. But the reality is that there is only a slim chance of survival for them," said the mayor.

The cause of the blast was not immediately clear but police appealed for information about a car seen speeding away from the scene shortly after the explosion. AFP

Qatar PM says Gaza truce talks gathering momentum ahead of Don's return

DOHA

QATAR'S prime minister said on Saturday that momentum had returned to talks aimed at securing a truce and hostage exchange deal in Gaza following the election of Donald Trump as US president.

"We have sensed, after the election, that the momentum is coming back," Sheikh Mohammed bin Abdulrahman bin Jassim Al-Thani told the Doha Forum for political dialogue.

He spoke as a source close to the Hamas delegation in the talks told AFP that a new round of negotiations will "most likely" begin in the coming week.

Sheikh Mohammed said that while there were "some differences" in the approach to an agreement by the outgoing and incoming US administrations, "we didn't see or recognise any disagreement on the goal itself to end the war".

The Gulf emirate, along with the United States and Egypt, had been involved in months of unsuccessful negotiations for a Gaza truce and hostage release after 14 months of war.

But in November, Doha announced it had put its mediation on hold, saying it would resume when Hamas and Israel showed "willingness and seriousness".

Sheikh Mohammed said there had been "a lot of encouragement from the incoming administration in order to achieve a deal, even before the president comes to the office", adding this had affected Qatar's decision to get talks "back on track" over the past two weeks. "We hope to get things done as soon as possible. We hope that the willingness of the parties to engage in a good faith continues," he said.

The Hamas source, speaking on condition of anonymity, told AFP: "Based on contacts with the mediators, we expect a new round of negotiations to begin in Cairo, most likely this week, to discuss ideas and proposals regarding a ceasefire and prisoner swap." AFP

The car manufacturer says it will contest the brand rights of 'BE 6e' in court, asserts that IndiGo's claim is baseless

Mahindra to rename electric SUV as 'BE 6'

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

IN the growing tussle between India's largest airline IndiGo and homegrown auto major Mahindra & Mahindra (M&M) over the use of code '6e', the latter on Saturday said it will contest the brand rights of 'BE 6e' in court. For the time being, Mahindra has decided to name its electric sports utility vehicle as 'BE 6' from the disputed nameplate 'BE 6e'.

"We, however, do believe the claim by IndiGo is baseless and if not challenged, will set an unhealthy precedent of monopolizing alpha-numeric 2-character marks, despite our mark being distinctive and different. This will be enormously constraining for all companies across industries and sectors," said M&M in a statement on Saturday.

It added, "We will thus continue to strongly contest this in court and reserve our right to the brand name BE 6e."

Mahindra unveiled its electric-origin SUVs - the BE 6e and XEV 9e - on November 26, 2024. Following the unveil, IndiGo filed a case in the Delhi High Court against Mahindra's electric mobility arm—Mahindra Electric Automobile (MEAL)—for using the airline's identifier code 6E. The case, filed under Interglobe Aviation vs Mahindra Electric Automobile Ltd, was listed before Justice Amit Bansal on Tuesday. However, the judge recused himself from the matter, and the next hearing is now scheduled for December 9.

IndiGo, known for its distinctive "6E" callsign and branding, uses the trademark across a suite of passenger services such as 6E Prime, 6E Flex, and various add-ons, enhancing its offerings in the aviation sector. The airline secured trademark registration for "6E Link" under multiple classes in 2015, including advertising, transport services, and electronic displays.

Mahindra said on Saturday that it had applied for trademark registration under class 12 (vehicles) for "BE 6e" as a part of its electric origin SUV portfolio. The mark "BE" is already registered with Mahindra in Class 12, and it stands for our "born electric" platform underpinning the BE 6e.

"We believe it differs fundamentally from IndiGo's "6E," which represents an airline, eliminating any risk of confusion. The distinct styling emphasises its uniqueness. Our registration application is for an entirely different industry sector and product and hence do not see any conflict," said Mahindra & Mahindra.

The automaker pointed out that in the past, Tata Motors had objected to InterGlobe using IndiGo mark, given their Tata Indigo car brand. "InterGlobe continues to use IndiGo in a different industry and business. We, therefore, find their objection to BE 6e to be inconsistent with their own previous conduct," it said.

Earlier this week, IndiGo said the 6E mark has been an integral part of IndiGo's identity for the past 18 years and is a registered trademark that holds strong global recognition.

We do believe the claim by IndiGo is baseless and if not challenged, will set an unhealthy precedent of monopolizing alpha-numeric 2-character marks, despite our mark being distinctive and different

UltraTech's India Cement buyout under CCI scrutiny

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE acquisition of India Cements by UltraTech Cement has come under the lens of the Competition Commission of India (CCI). UltraTech Cement in an exchange filing has informed that the Company has received a communication from the CCI under Section 29 (1) of the Competition Act, 2002 regarding the proposed acquisition of India Cements.

"The company will be responding to the same. The Southern market for grey cement, where India Cement operates, is highly competitive and fragmented with presence of over 35 grey cement manufacturers. We are confident of merits of our case," UltraTech Cement said in the exchange filing. The nature of the issue raised by the regulator is not known yet.

The India's largest cement maker in July announced acquisition of a 32.72% stake in Chennai-based India Cements from promoters & their associates. The Aditya Birla Group company would pay ₹3,954 crore at ₹390 share for buying 28.42% stake of promoters –Srinivasan N, Chitra Srinivasan, Rupa Gurunath and S K Asokh Baalaje and 4.30% share from Sri Saradha Logistics.

The acquisition is subject to regulatory approvals. In its submission to CCI, UltraTech said "there exist some insignificant and minuscule vertical relationships between UltraTech and India Cements on a nonexclusive and arm's length basis, in the ordinary course of business."

MORE OLA STORES, MODELS; BUT THERE'S A BACKLOG

GURBIR SINGH

OLA Electric's co-founder Bhavish Aggarwal has just announced an ambitious plan to open as many as 3,200 stores by the end of December. These will be in addition to the current 800. Aggarwal has said the massive expansion plan is to reach electric two-wheelers (e2Ws) to every pincode in the country.

It's ironical how these announcements are relayed by our media without a caveat or a question. Even the stock market swallowed it and moved up 6.6 percent soon after the announcement, in anticipation of a massive sales boost. Some of the pink papers which carry such 'news' must now do their due diligence and check how many Ola stores actually opened, and how they are performing.

Isn't it cheeky a company facing thousands of complaints from Ola scooter buyers, and unable to provide maintenance services to its existing customers, wants to expand points of sales four-fold? Doesn't the company first need to explain and apologize for its existing non-functional after-sales network?

The National Consumer Helpline, managed by the Department of Consumer Affairs, has registered 10,644 complaints against Ola e-scooters from September 1, 2023, to August 30, 2024. In recent months social media has been agog with pictures and videos of lines of junked Ola e2Ws outside showrooms and service stations. Several videos of frustrated consumers – one setting fire to an Ola store, another destroying his vehicle in front of a showroom – went viral.

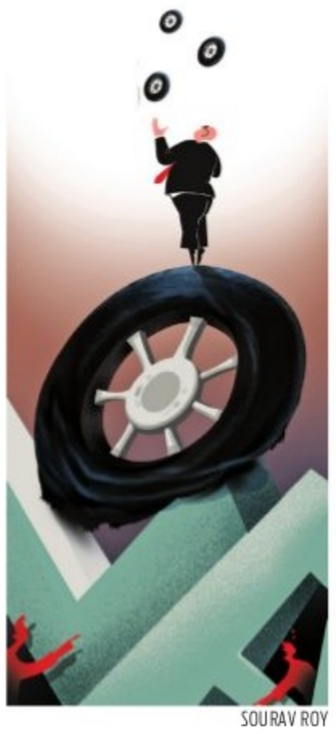
But it took a stand-up comic to take on Bhavish Aggarwal on 'X' with these videos and complaints to force a public debate. The Fourth Estate prides itself of speaking Truth to Power; but it was only after lakhs of consumers pitched in to support Kunal Kamra, that the mainline media began reporting the skirmish.

And amidst falling sales and stock price, Ola co-founder Bhavish Aggarwal was hardly remorseful. Instead, he offered Kunal Kamra a job to come and help him solve Ola's problems!

POOR PERFORMANCE

The market indicators are red-flagging Ola, but its founders continue to ride the froth. The company's quarterly results indicate scooter sales declined 21 percent sequentially to 98,619 in the July-September period. This resulted in a 26 percent drop quarter-on-quarter in revenue at ₹1,214 crore, while net loss widened 40 percent to Rs 495 crore. To stem the tide, the company has fired 400-500 personnel – about 10 percent of its 4,000-strong workforce.

In respect of sales, Ola Electric's market share fell from a dominant 49.8 per cent in May to 31 per cent in October. It dropped further to 25.3 per cent in November - the lowest this year. Though still No. 1 in the EV scooter market, TVS and Bajaj Auto are closing in with 23.3 per cent and 22.6 per cent, respectively.



SOURAV ROY

A company that claims it has solved 99.1 percent of the complaints, is not listening. There are major problems both with the product as well as the way the company deals with consumers. For instance, the flagship Ola S1 Pro uses a front fork arm from a Dutch model, but in India it crumbles on bad roads or even when hitting a minor bump. Ola scooters have also been plagued with software glitches and battery failures.

Key categories of complaints include charges imposed during free service periods or warranties, delayed and unsatisfactory service, refusal or delays in honouring warranty claims, recurring defects despite repairs, and performance inconsistencies with advertised claims.

Instead of consolidating its operations by reworking its existing products and building its maintenance network currently in shambles, Ola Electric has audaciously launched a new range of scooters including the Ola Gig and S1 Z series. The company is also preparing to launch its 'Roadster' motorcycle series. Shouldn't the Department of Consumer Affairs lay down a 'minimum performance' playbook before allowing more consumers to suffer?

SLOW REDRESSAL

The 'Ola experience' also highlights the poor level of consumer grievance redressal in India. By its own admission, the department of consumer affairs had received 10,644 online complaints in one year by 30 August, 2024. Yet it did nothing. It was only on 7 October that the Central Consumer Protection Authority (CCPA) woke up and gave notice to Ola for violations of consumer rights, misleading advertisements, and unfair trade practices; and only after there was a maelstrom triggered by Kunal Kamra's tweets.

Thereafter too, the CCPA has been dragging its feet. A preliminary investigation has proven the Ola claim of having addressed 99.1 percent of the complaints is false. However, instead of bringing Ola and Bhavish Aggarwal to book, the CCPA has given a second notice to Ola Electric on 4 December seeking additional documents and information concerning the EV maker's response of 22 October.

We know where this is headed. With the lapse of time, public interest in the dispute will slowly subside. Those directly hit by defective scooters or awaiting refunds will be frustrated and give up.

The CCPA was set up as a fast track ombudsman in July 2020 to resolve consumer grievances and to avoid lengthy litigation under the Consumer Protection Act. But the Ola experience shows we still have a long way to go. If the CCPA means business, it must impose heavy penalties on each of the pending cases. A punishment that pinches the pocket is the only deterrent.

RBI adds 27 tn gold in Oct, 50% of central banks' buying

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank has bought 48% of all the gold that the central banks bought in October, adding a whopping 27 tonne to its home reserves, taking the total tonnage to 882. Gold buying by all central banks totalled only 60 tonne in October, shows the latest data from the World Gold Council (WGC).

The RBI has purchased as much as 77 tonne of gold between January and October, according to the data, based on the reported monthly numbers from the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

Gold had touched its historic high prices in October crossing the $2750/ounce mark and the buying happened the historically highest prices—may be prices skyrocketed due to the demand from central banks. The October purchase represents a five-fold increase compared to the same period of 2023, said the WGC. With this purchase the country's total gold reserve stood at 882 tonne, of which 510 tonne are held in the country and the rest are mostly in the London, Zurich and New York.

The RBI has been on a gold-buying spree between April 2022 and September 2024 when it added close to 100 tonne to the reserves.

Between January and Septemebr, the central bank had bought 24 tonne, taking the total to 854.73 tonne. At the end of March 2024, the reserves stood at 822.73 tonne, which was only 760.42 tonne in March 2022. This means the RBI had lapped up 94.31 tonne since then and September 2024. In the whole of 2023, the gold reserves went up by 16 tonne, making RBI the second biggest central bank buyer of the yellow metal. In terms of overall forex reserves (dollar terms), gold is worth 9.32% in September 2024, up from 8.15% in March 2024.

The Council further said emerging market central banks continued to dominate the market with Turkey and Poland adding 72 tonne and 69 tonne, respectively, till October 2024. Which means these three central banks accounted for 60% of the total global net purchases reported this year. Till the first half of this year , the Chinese central bank had led the bullion buying spree.

India women seek quick turnaround

After the hammering in the first ODI against Australia, the Harmanpreet Kaur-led Indian team will be looking to come back stronger in the second ODI to be played at the Allan Border Field in Brisbane on Sunday. Another loss here would mean that the hosts will seal the three-match ODI series.

Deja vu: Head-ache yet again for Rohit & Co

Travis smashes century at his home ground to put hosts on top

GOMESH S @ Chennai

IN many ways, the writing was on the wall for India. In this instance, Australia batter Travis Head haunting India when it matters the most. Over the last 18 months, he has done it time and again against India. World Test Championship final, check. ODI World Cup final, check. To say that he was behind India's failure to capture global titles would not be an understatement.

So much so that every time he plays and misses, Indian cricket fans would relive the events of November 19, 2023 in Ahmedabad. So, when the Indian team arrived on the shores of his hometown — Adelaide — they would have had to pull off a mighty effort to stop him from scoring a century. As fate would have it, they couldn't.

Coming in after the fall of Steve Smith, Head went on to smash a typical, counter-attacking century — his third on the trot at Adelaide Oval — to put Australia on the driver's seat. By the time he was done by a pin-point yorker from Mohammed Siraj, Head had amassed 140 runs from 141 balls, having taken Australia's lead past 130. With Marnus Labuschagne and Nathan McSweeney setting the platform, Head built on it.

The South Australian knows the ground like the back of his hand. He understood the conditions, the attack that was in front of him and launched a calculated assault. He had his share of fortune as he would admit later, but Head made the most of it. The celebration after the century summed it all up. Head dedicated the century to his second child, who was born last month before paying tribute to his former teammate the late Phil Hughes who passed away ten years ago. His innings helped Australia finish with 337 runs on board.

When asked about his approach with the bat, Head explained, "30 overs seems to be about the mark on Adelaide Oval. For my whole career, it has felt like that's (whether it is) the red ball, pink ball the time you've got to put in and invest. Then it feels like the wicket gets slightly easier to bat on. Huge effort from those guys last night."

While the 157 runs deficit was always going to be stiff, India came out with an attacking intent. It was a double-edged sword but the visitors felt they had to take a chance, especially after watching Australia bat. The pitch had obviously eased out, but the conditions were different. Australian pacer's release point — read tall fast bowlers extracting extra bounce off length — and pink ball swinging under lights meant they needed the discipline that Labuschagne and McSweeney showed on Friday. However, India went the other way and paid a price for it.

First, KL Rahul awkwardly tried to pull Pat Cummins only to be caught behind. Just a few overs later, Yashasvi Jaiswal fell to Scott Boland after a 31-ball 24. Shubman Gill looked at home while Virat Kohli's off-side issues continued. When it seemed like Gill would make it big, Mitchell Starc delivered a peach of an in-swinger to clean him up. Cummins followed it up with a perfect delivery that hit Rohit Sharma's off-stump.

Once again, India were down in the dumps, leaving Rishabh Pant and Nitish Kumar Reddy to do the rescue act. The duo did produce some audacious shots to bring the deficit under fifty (29), but it all will depend on how the first session goes on Sunday.

CONVINCED ABOUT HIL'S ECONOMIC VIABILITY: HI CHIEF TIRKEY

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

WHEN former India captain Dilip Tirkey was elected as the president of Hockey India, besides galvanising the India team, he had two objectives in mind. He told this daily during an interview last year that one of them was to revive the Hockey India League (HIL) that helped Indian players improve substantially while playing against top players across the world, while the other was to develop hockey in the grassroots. Finally, the franchises and dates have been announced and players have been drafted into eight teams through auction.

With about three weeks left for the HIL to begin, the league has been facing some teething issues. One such is the revenue model and foreign players leaving because of the low bid. Another was to find a long-term or title sponsor. HI president Tirkey, in a chat with this daily, elucidated plans for generating revenue and also revealed that in a short while they are going to announce a title sponsor. He admitted that some foreign players have left franchises after the auction but HI is trying to find the right solution. Tirkey also spoke sustainability of the tournament, the future and more. Excerpts...

Sunday Special

• The league had helped Indian players improve, seven years later, do you think HIL will have the same impact?

What do young players need to develop? They need exposure to world-class players, tactics, coaching and fitness standards. This is exactly what the Hockey India League will provide and will help nurture local talent of international quality. As a result of HIL, I can clearly see India dominating world hockey in years to come.

• It is one of your pet projects. Are you confident that HIL will succeed?

I have no doubt that the league will succeed. We have top-notch franchise owners, great broadcast partners and the world's best playing and coaching talent. Add to that India's recent success in the Asian Games and the Olympics and the public support that has evoked. Together they'll ensure that the HIL emerges as one of the premier sporting leagues in the world.

• How will the HIL benefit sports at grassroots level?

Two things will aid that process. Firstly, it will encourage youngsters to take up hockey as a career. Secondly, the resources (through franchise fees, media rights & sponsorships) that the HIL will help HI raise will enable us to build even better infrastructure, get better coaching & support staff and financially support young players. Very excited about what HIL will do in our country.

• Franchises have invested a lot. Are there discussions on the sustainability side? A bit on the revenue model.

We believe that we pegged the franchise fee at a very reasonable level so that franchise owners could have a clear path to profitability. However, one has to be patient in terms of the League achieving its fullest commercial potential and our esteemed franchise owners understand that. I personally feel convinced about the economic viability of the League given the level of interest we have received from broadcasters, sponsors and other stakeholders. While many of the established leagues are unable to find title sponsors, I am pleased to say that HIL shall shortly be unveiling its title sponsor and that brand association is a matter of great pride for us. Worldwide sports leagues build value over time. However, once they hit that inflection point, the returns can be substantial. Our franchise owners appreciate that and buy into it with conviction. We seek this league as a true partnership between HI and the franchises and will proactively address any concerns. This includes periodic reviews of the commercial structure in order to ensure that the interests of the franchises are served.

• Franchises are facing some challenges. Some of the foreign recruits bid during auctions are leaving or planning to leave. This apparently is because some of them were bought at base price or so. How are you going to address this?

It is indeed true that some foreign players withdrew post the auction. Admittedly, it was something that we hadn't foreseen. We have taken up the matter with the FIH and the respective country (national) federations and will ensure something like this does not happen in the future. That said, most of the overseas talent will be participating in this edition of the HIL and the fans are in for a visual spectacle.

• On future of the league

The future of HIL is full of exciting possibilities. Not only Indian hockey, I believe it will have a profound impact on world hockey as well. To be able to have the world's best players playing each other as part multi-national teams in a highly competitive environment can only revitalise and lift the sport. It also gives the players the opportunity to develop more quickly and build more rewarding careers for themselves. With 12 franchises in Season 1, HIL is the biggest mainstream sport league at inception. Also unique & unprecedented is the fact that th men's and women's editions are starting from the get-go.

Railway wrestler asked to pull out of sr nat'ls

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

A RAJASTHAN Greco-Roman wrestler was asked to pull out of the ongoing Senior National Championship in Bengaluru on Saturday saying the Railway Sports Promotion Board (RSPB) has not given no objection certificates to its grapplers to compete in the event.

Dheeraj Chaudhary, who is employed with the Indian Railways, has already won a bout in the 130kg by then. He, however, expressed his inability to take part in bouts to follow claiming he got a call from his senior officials asking him to pull out. "He got selected in his category after winning the state championship. Dheeraj won a bout and then refused to compete saying his employer asked him not to," Ummed Singh, president of the Rajasthan Wrestling Association, said. "I called the sports officer concerned, who is also an Olympian, and asked him the reason for Dheeraj getting pulled out. The sports officer said that the Railway wrestlers have not been given NOCs to compete in the event. If that was the case, the wrestler should have been instructed beforehand. We could have sent the silver medallist of the state championship," added Singh.

It should be noted that the RSPB had decided not to send entries for the event being organised by the Wrestling Federation of India saying the NSF has been suspended by the sports ministry. Despite the decision, more than 10 wrestlers from Railway decided to compete for their respective states. "The state unit will take disciplinary action against the wrestler in question. More than him, it is the Railway board that has been jeopardising the future of its wrestlers," signed off Singh.

RSPB secretary Prem Chand Lochab didn't respond to text messages sent to him in this regard.

Man City held, Merseyside derby postponed

AGENCIES @ London

MANCHESTER City failed to win for the eighth time in nine games in a 2-2 draw at Crystal Palace on Saturday as high winds caused the Merseyside derby between Everton and Liverpool to be postponed.

City had the chance to go second in the Premier League but failed to build on a 3-0 win over Nottingham Forest in midweek. Pep Guardiola's men got off to the worst possible start at Selhurst Park when Daniel Munoz raced on to Will Hughes' pass to fire Palace in front after four minutes. Erling Haaland's towering header from Matheus Nunes' cross brought City back level. The visitors started the second half strongly but were hit with a sucker punch when Maxence Lacroix powered home Hughes' corner. Rico Lewis found the top corner to level once more for City, but was then sent-off six minutes from time. The final league derby between Everton and Liverpool at Goodison Park will have to be rescheduled after Storm Darragh battered western regions of England with high winds and heavy rain. Results: Brentford 4-2 Newcastle; Aston Villa 1-0 Southampton; Palace 2-2 Manchester City.

Barcelona denied

Assane Diao scored in the injury-time to help Real Betis earn a point against La Liga leaders Barcelona on Saturday. The match finished 2-2.

Chhetri turns back clock to power Bengaluru FC

ENS @ Bengaluru

SUNIL Chhetri turned back the clock to score a hat-trick, helping Bengaluru FC post a thrilling 4-2 victory over Kerala Blasters in the ISL here.

At 40 years and 126 days, Chhetri became the oldest hat-trick scorer in the ISL — surpassing Bartholomew Ogbeche, who did it for Hyderabad FC at 38 years and 96 days old. With this win, BFC reclaimed the top spot from Mohun Bagan.

Ryan Williams delivered a perfect cross from the right flank into the penalty box. Chhetri climbed highest to deliver a perfect header past the goalkeeper's right in the 8th minute of the contest. Pereye Diaz was the creator-in-chief for Chhetri's second goal. After collecting the ball just inside Kerala's half, Diaz sprinted past two defenders into the penalty box before cutting the ball towards Chhetri on the left. Chhetri made no mistake to put his side in front (3-2). Chhetri completed his hat-trick in style in injury time. Chinglesana Singh found Chhetri inside the box with a ball over the top. The veteran maintained his calm to find the back of the net.

State of play: Mercury rising on the board at World Chess Championship

OVER the last week or so, journalists have come under fire because of the nature of some questions asked to the players during the post-game press conferences. It led to Hikaru Nakamura, one of the biggest chess streamers in terms of content creation as well as following, putting out separate reviews for press conferences (it has brought him a fair number of clicks).

To be fair, some of the questions have been random. One question was whether the players would be interested in visiting some of Sentosa Island's landmarks together. Ding Liren has predictably been asked about the Ding chillin' meme (to which he very cutely asked 'what's the meaning of chill?').

With journalists taking the hits on social media, the head of the Local Organising Committee (LOC), Kevin Goh, had to put out a statement defending the nature of the questions. "I can understand if some of the questions at the press conference might seem unusual but the reaction and abuse that the journalists are getting are way over the top," the GM posted on X (formerly Twitter).

Goh, also the CEO of the Singapore Chess Federation, is right in his assessment. These questions have helped the players loosen up a fair bit. It may be unconnected to chess but they are needed to flesh out the personality of the two players. Because both players stuck to the book for the vast majority of the 10th game, the most entertaining moment of Saturday came a good 20 minutes after the players had agreed to a draw by three-fold repetition. D Gukesh travelled to the press conference with his father, Dr Rajinikanth. So the question was if the teen asked his father about some of the moves as the latter has access to technology and 'he's the first chess player you talk to (from your camp) after leaving the playing hall?'

To which the 18-year-old, in a very matter-of-fact way, responded: "He would be happy to hear that he's a chess player." It brought the roof down, a much-needed moment of humour after an uneventful fifth game with White for Liren, the world champion. Once the laughs ended, they were quickly replaced with stoic expressions on the faces of both the challenger and the champion. The margin for an error has more or less dwindled with just four Classical games to go. With both players tied at 5-5, it feels more likely that the player who wins next will have the last laugh. Both camps, when they wake up on Sunday, will see it as a four-game shoot-off and, potentially, tie-breaks.

RESULT 0.5-0.5

Game length: 36 moves

Opening: London System

Match score: 5-5

In Game 11 on Sunday, Gukesh will have White pieces

5.00 PM Singapore (2.30 PM IST)

HOW THE GAME PLAYED OUT

1	d4	Nf6	7	c4	0-0	13	Nxf6+	Bxf6	19	Kf1	Kg7	25	Nd2	Nd6	31	b4	f6
2	Nf3	d5	8	0-0	Nc6	14	Qxd8	Rxd8	20	a3	f5	26	Nc4	Nxc4	32	Kd4	h6
3	Bf4	e6	9	Nc3	dxc4	15	Bxf6	gxf6	21	Ke1	Kf6	27	Bxc4	Bc6	33	Bb3	Bb7
4	e3	c5	10	Bxc4	Nh5	16	Rfd1	Bd7	22	Be2	Ne7	28	f4	b6	34	Bc4	Bc6

6	dxc5	Bxc5	12	Ne4	Nf6	18	Rxd8	Rxd8	24	Rxc8	Nxc8	30	Kc3	Kd6	36	Bc4	Bc6

The tie-breaks

Tie-breaks, then, feel like a good starting point to take stock of the final. They may be four games away but on the chess24 commentary, both Anish Giri and Peter Leko were talking about it. "I think deep inside, Gukesh has an opinion on whether he wants tie-breaks or not," Giri said. Gukesh himself remained non-committal on the aspect of tie-breaks earlier but there is a feeling that the Indian would like to prevent the match from going into tie-breaks. Why? Because it has faster time controls. The first batch of tie-breaks will see each player having 15 minutes per game with an increment of 10 seconds from the first move.

The Chinese has a clear advantage when it comes to games in the Rapid format (his rating is 2776 as compared to Gukesh's 2654). If the four-game Rapid match tie-break is also tied and a further two-game mini Rapid match is also tied, they go into Blitz mode, an even quicker time control. Liren holds the edge in this as well (2785 as opposed to 2615). These ratings, though, have a significant caveat. The 18-year-old doesn't play them all that often. But because he is more of a calculator than somebody who plays with intuition, he may target his two White games to get a decisive result.

All three results possible

With just four games to go, all three results are still in play (Gukesh win before tie-breaks, Ding win before tie-breaks or tie-breaks). The attitude of most elite players in such a situation would be to play the positions and not go in with preconceived notions. Liren is the sort of player who will look to kill the oxygen out of any game and go safe. Even though Gukesh has shut down a couple of games from exploding, he likes to go for wins. Chess fans couldn't have asked for a better ending to this World Championship

MAKING SENSE OF BHAGWAT'S POPULATION CURVE BALL

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT & PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

RECENT remarks by Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) chief Mohan Bhagwat and two chief ministers of Southern states have ignited a heated debate around crucial issues such as India's demographic trends, declining fertility rates, and the pressing social and economic challenges the country faces.

Bhagwat's suggestion that Indian couples should aim to have at least three children to bolster the nation's population, sparked not only a political backlash, but also raised significant concerns about the perception of reducing women to mere 'child bearers' while overlooking their autonomy and reproductive rights.

He cited a scientific concept known as the Total fertility rate (TFR), advocating for families to have three children instead of the familiar slogan of 'Hum Do Hamare Do' (We two, ours two). This well-known phrase was integral to India's national family planning programme and has been a staple in the public consciousness for decades. TFR represents the average number of children a woman is expected to bear throughout her reproductive years, serving as a key indicator of population growth and demographic health.

"Our country's population policy, formulated in 1998 or 2002, clearly says that the total fertility rate should not be below 2.1. Now when we say 2.1, it is not feasible to have children in fraction. So when we say 2.1, this means it should be more, at least three. Population science says so," Bhagwat said.

RSS' earlier stance

Though population control policy has always been high on the BJP and RSS agenda, the RSS had adopted a measured approach to it. In his 2022 Vijayadashami speech, Bhagwat argued in favour of a comprehensive population control policy to tackle demographic challenges over the next 50 years. He also said that religion-based population balance is an important subject that can't be ignored.

"If population is used correctly, it is not a burden, but rather a means. We have a demographic dividend. China is getting old. We are going to remain young for the next 30 years... We also have to think about the population. How many people can our country feed after 50 years... A comprehensive policy is required," he had said. In 2004 and 2015, the RSS passed resolutions on population control policy.

In 2015, Vishwa Hindu Parishad leader Champat Rai said family planning "was not a personal matter for Hindus anymore and if they adhered to the one-child norm, Muslims would take over the country."

Responding to Bhagwat's remarks, former Rajya Sabha MP Rakesh Sinha told this paper that by advocating a three-child norm, the RSS chief addressed a crucial concern of decline in the young population. In 2019, Sinha, then a BJP MP moved a private member's bill proposing that every government employee shall give an undertaking to "not procreate more than two children" and to reward those who follow the two-child policy.

Sinha is of the view that 'demographic imbalance' in terms of the rising population of Muslims vis-á-vis Hindus, is a major concern that needs to be addressed. "As per the 2011 Census, the Hindu population is decreasing in the country. We can't deny that truth," said Sinha, adding that the social discourse must get more attention. While Sinha withdrew the bill later, he said there was no contradiction with the government on it.

Govt and RSS not on same page?

Activists and the Opposition parties point out that the BJP and RSS are speaking in different voices on the issue. Raising it for the first time during his Independence Day speech in 2019, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said the issue of an ever-rising population is a matter of concern and that a small section of society, which keeps their families small, deserves respect.

During the interim Budget speech in February this year, Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced that the government will form a high-powered committee to look into the challenges arising from fast population growth and demographic changes. The committee is yet to be formed.

In an affidavit to the Supreme Court in 2020, the Union government said it cannot coerce couples into having a certain number of children to curb population explosion as it will be counter-productive.

Some of the BJP-ruled states such as Assam and Uttar Pradesh have introduced stringent measures to control population growth. The Assam government in 2017 passed a law to prohibit individuals with more than two children from applying for government jobs. The state Law Commission of Uttar Pradesh proposed that families exceeding the two-child norm should not receive government subsidies.

On the other hand, to address issues of low fertility rates and an aging population, Andhra Pradesh recently scrapped the two-child policy. Telangana is also likely to reverse the two-child criteria for local body poll contestants soon. Other states that scrapped the two-child policy include Chhattisgarh, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh.

Population policy

In 1952, India became the first nation globally to initiate a comprehensive national programme focused on family planning. This pioneering effort aimed to reduce birth rates to stabilise the population at a level appropriate for supporting the nation's economic needs. The initiative was designed to align demographic growth with the sustainable requirements of the economy, reflecting a forward-thinking approach to population management during a critical period in the country's development.

The National Health Policy established in 1983 set an ambitious goal for India to achieve replacement TFR levels by 2000. This policy emphasised the importance of population control to ensure sustainable development. Fast forward to May 11, 2000, when India introduced its National Population Policy. This forward-looking policy sought to comprehensively address the nation's reproductive and child health requirements while outlining a strategic plan to stabilise the population by 2045. Through a multifaceted approach, the policy aimed to promote health, empower families, and ensure a balanced demographic future.

In 2023, India officially surpassed China as the world's most populous nation, with the United Nations reporting a population of 1,425,775,850, determined through a combination of census data and analyses of birth and death rates. Projections indicate that India's population may peak at 1.7 billion by 2064. Challenging the prevailing narrative, Poonam Muttreja, Executive Director of the Population Foundation of India (PFI), says, "India's population debate needs a shift from fear-mongering to empowering policies. The declining fertility rate is not a crisis but an opportunity to invest in health, education, and gender equality."

Why southern states are aggrieved

In the last three months, the chief ministers of Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu have urged couples in their states to have more children to arrest the lower population growth rates. Unlike other states, the South faces a peculiar problem of looming political crisis because of the impending delimitation exercise.

There is a fear among the Southern states — which successfully controlled population growth — that a reconfiguration based on current census data could drastically cut their representation in the Lok Sabha.

The Union government is expected to begin the next census in 2025 and the delimitation process by 2027. The Southern states have flagged their concerns that if the delimitation is conducted on the basis of population census, it would reduce their representation in Parliament.
